Long ago, in the days of lords and ladies, there was a small kingdom. Small because its population was only 1600 people, but in greatness and wisdom, its numbers were immeasurable. Within the kingdom there were towering trees whose limbs swayed with the wind and green fields whose beautiful grass glistened in the sunlight. The coat-of-arms lay at the entrance, welcoming all visitors. The surroundings created a pleasant atmosphere that affected each and every person.

When it came to sporting matches, there were none better than this kingdom. Whether it was a one-on-one duel or infantry against infantry, the competitors would enter the match courageously and leave the match valiantly. The knights in their shining armor and green chainmail would take part in competitions such as jousting with lances or clashing swords. Not all competition was just brute force, dexterity was needed for events such as archery or soccer. The one thing all the knights had in common was that they represented their kingdom's coat-of-arms with every victory and defeat.

Magical Times . . .

These knights were but a portion of the people in the kingdom. The rest of the population consisted of kings, queens, nobles, and sorcerers. Everyone was a gentleman, this is, of W a high rank in birth. No one was considered a serf or underling in the realm. Each had his or her own throne and glittering treasure chamber in their minds. To further enrich the nobles, sorcerers passed on vast amounts of knowledge and responsibility. This was done through a mysterious magic that enchanted the people, making them yearn for more. The people were bound by one common thing - devotion and loyalty to their kingdom - which kept them strong while the others weakened and collapsed.

How, might you ask, could such a place exist? Well, my friend, this place does exist. In fact, you know it well, for it is Buena Park High School. It is a kingdom rich in its unity and pride.

A Time For Friendship

As the half-time gun was fired on the night of October 23, students, teachers and friends anxiously awaited the start of the Homecoming activities.

The theme of this year's Homecoming, chosen by the leadership class, was "Stand By Me." ASB President Eric Baesel opened the presentation with the introduction of seniors Nicole Tolman and Nancy Miranda. They sang a duet of the song, "That's What Friends Are For." Quickly after, Baesel introduced the court. Each attendant was driven to the stage area in a classic Corvette, furnished by a local car club.

The attendants were escorted by relatives, and past queen Jamie Larkin was escorted by former principal, Jim Bremer.

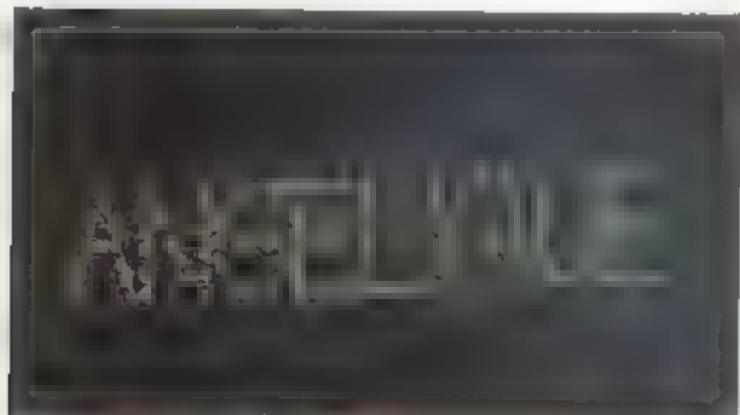

As the stands grew quiet, Principal George Giokaris announced Angelique Moon as Homecoming queen. Soon fireworks filled the sky and the queen's name was lit up.

Unfortunately, Homecoming King Reuben Motley was not able to attend the ceremony, since as a member of the football team, he was involved in a half-time meeting.

The dance, also sponsored by the ASB, took place the following evening in the gym. The ASB cabinet spent many tiresome hours in preparation for the dance, adding the unique touch of valet parking and a bubble machine to make the evening memorable.

Taking Matters Into Their Own Hands

"I think we successfully dodged the dragon of despair this year and got a lot done." These were the words student Joe Thims, a member of the leadership class used to describe the course.

Although the title "leadership class" does have certain implications, many students do not realize the true direction this zero period class took.

"Dissecting" the leadership group, which met every school day at 7:05 a.m., one discovered that it was comprised of elected school officers, pep squad members, and basically anyone who was interested in helping lead the school. At the helm of this "motley crew" was adviser Shirley Gatling, who aided the students in planning and executing many school activities. Second in command, A.S.B. President Eric Baesel, would many times take over where Gatling left off.

Leadership divided and conquered the school year by successfully organizing numerous events such as the lip sync contest, a luncheon for war hero Patrick Henry, and Homecoming. Then, destined by their fate, they supervised the school blood drive, and during the holidays visited a rest home, spreading their yuletide cheer with the aged.

However, in order to prosper from all their endeavors, they found they needed to learn how to cooperate with one another. Differences of opinion had to be resolved in the "arena of room 71." So, in accordance with Gatling's philosophy, opposing groups (the students) had to face one another and discuss their differences. Also, Gatling said that most people had a willingness to work things out, so this method was effective. She offered final thoughts on this year's leadership class: "They are a good group, one of the hardest working and organized in many years."

Although the 1987-88 leadership class was comprised of "individuals", many of whom were foreign to each other at the beginning of the year, Gatling was able to mold them into a single, cohesive unit. She taught them how to be a team — how to lead.

Yearbook Yields Memories Of Medieval Times

The yearbook staff quested to bring a medieval theme to the 87-88 Los Coyotes. There was a valiant struggle throughout the school year to accomplish this feat.

Under the leadership of Editor-in-Chief Alison Quirion and Adviser Teresa Linehan, the staff was able to complete the book. While staff and editors worked diligently, photographers sacrificed many lunch and after school hours to take pictures.

The success the staff felt was a result of their willingness to contribute extra time after school and into the night at work parties. Sharing a pizza, fighting for computer time and selecting appropriate background music were all part of the work parties that enabled the staff to bring Los Coyotes to its medieval conclusion.

Yearbook staff celebrated completion of their efforts with a party, and awards were given for best copy, best layout, worst copy, best excuse maker, cover design, most improved staffer, most valuable staffer, and editor-adviser award.

The staff hopes all enjoy viewing this edition of Los Coyotes.

Technology Sets New Foundation

If you read a copy of the raw prints, as the year went on you probably noticed a few changes in its content. These changes were brought forth by the staff in hopes of generating student interest in the paper. Two major changes included the addition of the position of copy editor and using a laser printer in production. The copy editor helped staffers catch most of their mistakes before they went on to be printed. The laser printer allowed their stories to be written just before deadline. In the old system, the staff had to type their stories one week before deadline, then cut and paste them onto another sheet which was then sent to a local printer to be reproduced. With the new system, their stories had to be typed only one day before deadline.

One major goal that the staff had in mind was to obtain as much student input as possible. This was accomplished by sending reporters throughout campus and finding out what students had to say about topics that the staff was planning to write about. This allowed the average student to influence what was being printed.

When asked about what he thought was the staff's biggest accomplishment, Editor-in-Chief Eric Baesel explained that the fact that they were leaving a foundation for future staffs to build on was very important to them. He said that when the year began they were a bit unsure about how to put out a newspaper, but as each new issue came out they became more and more confident with their ability to print something that students would enjoy reading.

Movie Production Reels In Memories

The movie production class worked with dedication to produce the annual senior film. The class, only open to juniors and seniors, was held during two periods. Each class had its own officers and president. Mr. John Hufferd acted as the class adviser of the production. "Responsibility went to class officers and responsible students," said Mr. Hufferd.

Students from the movie class could often be seen walking around campus or at various activities busily filming seniors. They were working hard to give the graduating class "a chronical of the seniors of B.P.H.S. in their final year of high school," Hufferd said.

Being in movie production required that the students "attend a lot of extra-curricular activities, have transportation, and money to buy supplies for the camara and tapes," said Mr. Hufferd. He also said that a student in movie production must learn to or be "a good listener, have dedication and an interest in movie or video."

The class also involved learning to work together as a team and to overcome difficulties. Movie class President Nicole Reid of second period, and third period President Eddie Gonzalez, both worked hard at encouraging the students to get their jobs done.

All the hard work put into the film paid off. The movie classes were able to reach their goal and produce the Senior Film for the class of '88.

SSC Makes Improvements

Russell Johnson checks back to make sure that he has the right answers

Chairman Russ Johnson stated that being on the School Site Council is a very interesting way to get involved with the school. Being on the council would give a student an opportunity to meet new people, discover more about the school, and learn about the way the school runs. Other student members on the council were Tracy Summers and William De Graffenreid. To be a part of the council it was necessary to apply and then the Student Congress elected the representatives. The meetings for the council were the second and fourth Wednesday of every month in the conference room at 3 p.m.

The council has a major financial responsibility. The state allocates $110,000 for the School Site Council each year to distribute as they see fit. The council reviews all of the requests for the money and decides where it is needed most.

All council members, including Principal George Giokaris and Mr. Chris Johnson, have an equal voice in all of the decisions that are made. Each member serves a two year term on the council. All of the members of the council spend their extra time to improve the school and that is something they can be proud of.

Board Directs

The Board of Trustees is a body elected at large to represent the district. The board consists of five members: President Mrs. Marilyn Buchi, Clerk Robert Singer, Student Board Member Craig Garner, and Members Mr. Joe Merlo, Mr. Richard Gross, and Mr. Robert Hathaway. Three of these members are continuing their term and two of them are finishing up this year. Public information officer Shirley Finton stated that a board member serves a four year term and can run again if he or she chooses. Elections are held in the fall of each year.

The Board approves everything dealing with money for the schools. Shirley Finton added the Board also takes care of educational services, personnel services, and business services. The Board hires a superintendent and the superintendent hires the staff. The superintendent also carries out the policies set by the Board. Reaching decisions is achieved by a majority vote of three to two.

Shirley Finton said that the most challenging event that the Board has overcome in recent years was the closing of Lowell High School due to a lack of enrollment.

The Board was also responsible for building projects for the schools in the district, particularly Buena Park High. A few of the changes were the snack bar, the air conditioning and heating units, and also the new science labs. In addition to all of these new additions, Buena Park High School also has a new security system that was set up for the school this year. Regular maintenance has also been kept up and improved.

CSF Equals Success

One of the most successful clubs on campus is CSF, the California Scholarship Federation. This club is responsible for the canned food and Toys for Tots drives, Winter Dance, and the Distinguished Scholars Night.

This club is very successful on campus because its members are very dedicated. Only students that are qualified can join the club. To be a qualified member, the student must have at least three A's in their academic courses.

After keeping up the excellent grades in their classes, CSF members are rewarded for their hard work by getting out of school and going to Magic Mountain for the day. This is the magical day all the members wait for. On that day, the members hop on the bus at 8 a.m. and return about 7 p.m.

This club is known to be successful, and success is what they are after.

Young Squires Train For Knighthood

"A-ten-hut!" "About-face!" "Forward march!" Are these common, household phrases pertaining to your daily life? According to Adam Hattan, James Knoll, and Sam Navarro, they are. Each one is involved in the high school junior R.O.T.C., Reserve Officer Training Corp. program at B.P.H.S.

The junior R.O.T.C. is a nationwide program set up to help students learn and apply the concepts of military life. Every Tuesday, Hattan, Knoll, and Navarro journeyed to El Dorado High School in Placentia and attended class from 3:30 to 5:30. There they met with E-Flight — a group of R.O.T.C. members made up of students from approximately 15 Orange County schools. They also participated in community events such as the St. Jude Health Fair, K.I.P., blood drives, and Toys for Tots.

Hattan has been in R.O.T.C. for two years. During this time, he has attained the rank of staff sergeant and attributes his association with the organization to Navarro.

Knoll, in his first year, earned the rank of airman basic. He exclaimed, "One meets interesting people. Also, one learns discipline and more about our country from a military point of view." He came to the program through Hattan and Navarro.

Navarro credits his affiliation with the R.O.T.C. to his mother. She told him about it and it piqued his interest. After three years of devotion, he is now a first lieutenant.

Although Hattan, Knoll, and Navarro receive three school credits per year, earn a grade for school, and have chances for scholarships and field trips, they all agreed that there is something more to gain from the experience of the junior R.O.T.C. They said that "It helps build self esteem and helps you to learn things you normally would not."

All three also realize the junior R.O.T.C. does not have the enrollment they would relish, but hope that the program will grow more popular with the students through time. It seems these three young squires should be hailed for their pursuit of justice and strength of character.

The Land Of Enlightenment

Perhaps the most grueling test many students will ever face is that of waking up and going to school at 8:05 a.m. every weekday morning. Now imagine everything the same, but one hour earlier! At 7:05 a.m., no less, it is a time to sleep and rest for the masses of students, however, to the members of the Orange County Academic Decathlon team (OCAD), it is time to don their thinking caps and absorb man's knowledge.

Under the supervision of teachers Harold Dixon and Myra Philpott, the members of the academic decathlon team met during a period throughout the year. As the competition drew near, they also met at lunch, during, and after school.

The decathlon team prepared for competition by studying and researching a variety of materials. The team can be broken into two groups (Freshmen/Sophomore and Junior/Senior teams), each of which has three levels (Varsity, Honors, and Scholastic). Members are determined by G.P.A., classes taken, the students' activities, and practice tests.

The decathlon tested the students on everything from math to economics, to writing an essay, and competing in the super quiz, an event which culminates the day's contest. The topic for this year's quiz was "The History of Flight: from Icarus and Daedalus to the Voyager."

Indeed, advisers Dixon and Philpott did well in reaching into the literal goblet of academic scholars here at Buena Park High. This year's team scored higher than any other this school has fielded. Members Adam Hattan and James Knoll received individual awards, distinguishing themselves for their excellence.

The OCAD team also contended in other events such as the Kiwanis Bowl held in March. OCAD veteran Korina Souza gathered her thoughts and remarked, "It was fun. We're like family."

Adviser Dixon, in retrospect, also commented on this year's dynasty, "They were a joy to work with. They were enthusiastic and they worked hard. We did better than we ever have." It was a golden time. A time of shimmering sparklets of man's world. A time for enlightenment.

Coyotes Compete With Enthusiasm

The Speech Club had a fun and challenging year. The club, open to anyone, mainly involved students from the speech and debate classes taught by Mr. John Hufferd. As with any other club, it had its own officers. The president was Susana Garcia.

The club members participated mainly in Saturday contests. The contests were held at and against other Orange County high schools. There were some contests held outside of Orange County though, such as the Patrick Henry contest in San Diego. It was one of toughest contests with local and out-of-state competitors participating in it as well.

Some of the events in this competition and others include O.O., O.A., and H.I. These odd abbreviations stand for different areas of speech competition. For instance, an O.O., Original Oratory, is a collection of poems, a short story or the traditional speech. Another event is interpretation. Scripts are performed similar to acting in drama except no stage, props, or costumes are allowed, and performers are not encouraged to walk around. Interps are divided into different categories, such as Dramatic (D.I.), and Humorous (H.I.).

A good candidate for the speech club would be, "someone who has the courage enough to speak, school pride, good sportsmanship, and the ability to stand discouragement and the willingness to try again," said Hufferd.

Speech club and debate classes had a worthwhile year. They did well at many of the contests and even won some sweepstakes trophies for overall achievements in some events. Mr. Hufferd's coaching and encouragement seemed to help them to do well. The victories that they achieved kept B.P.H.S. a stand out as one of the most competitive schools in the Orange County Speech League.

The World is a Classroom

Your book is open and your pen is in your hand. As you gaze out the window, you wonder how relevant science is to your daily life. Suddenly, Mr. Peebles taps you on the shoulder and asks if you've signed up for the whale watch.

In the Science Club students have the opportunity to experience science first-hand rather than just study it from a book.

The club took various trips to places like Death Valley, Sequoia, and the Pacific Ocean. On these trips, the students learned to work with each other as well as with the environment around them. Furthermore, on the field trips, students had the chance to be with other students away from the school environment. They learned to keep in touch with the real world and see how they fit into the big picture. They got the chance to explore new and exciting things. "Our club allows students to grow academically and socially, which is an important part of high school," remarked Mr. Gary Peebles, a club adviser.

The club also raised money to buy science equipment that they would not otherwise be able to purchase. In addition, a scholarship was offered to a senior in the club who was a participant in the activities, was basically a good student (3.0 G.P.A.), and had the desire to go to college.

The science club is a great way to explore what is learned in books, letting the world be the classroom.

Math Club Reaches Goals

Last year a new club was formed, and this year the club came on strong keeping their new goals in mind.

The Math Club set up a tutoring program, where a student who needed help with their math class came and received a math tutor. They also had some fund raisers and gave scholarships to students who were pursuing a career in mathematics.

One of the more exciting events the group participated in was a math competition. Students took math tests and competed against other math clubs in the state. Before the competition took place, Crystal Phillips, math club adviser, was asked to comment on how well she thought the team would do. "I think that the club will do real well, but it is the experience that counts." The club's officers include: President James Knoll, Vice President James Wang, and secretary Carolyn Ngo.

The club was mainly for students to gather and talk about math problems they encountered. If one of the club members needed help with a math problem, another member helped. If the other member could not help then Miss Phillips came to their rescue.

Whether the club helped another student or club member or just simply socialized, they had a lot of fun. Not all that has to do with math is boring. "Math can be fun," said Mr. Vern Stracener, a math teacher on campus.

Club Creates Technology

Whether it is a new way to communicate, to have fun or to run one's business in the future, the computer club has a hand in it.

The club was formed to get the students involved with tomorrow's technology and ways of communicating. For instance, the club worked on producing a Bulletin Board System which is a way for students to communicate with the club's computer. The students can call the BBS and receive or give information on the new programs that are coming out on the market.

In addition, some of the club members went on a field trip to Northrop with Vern Stracener, the club adviser. There, the club saw the importance of computer technology. "When visiting Northrop, one of the engineers said that everyone should have their own personal computer because in the future, no matter where you go to work, you will have to use some kind of computer," explained club member Antonio Sanchez.

When club member Daniel Park was asked to comment on the group's goals, he joked, "We want to give everyone in the school straight A's on their report cards." In reality, they planned trips to places where computer technology is being used.

A Knight For Success

One of the most thriving clubs on campus was the Chess Club, a club open to anyone who dared to challenge their mind.

The junior class enthusiasts met at break and lunch every day to experience the ultimate strategy game.

This was a building year," commented Stan Tinkle, the club adviser. He also said, "Losing two players who were number one in the county helped make this a building year." Even with this loss, the club reached success by winning the second place trophy in the Orange County Chess League.

During the month of April, the chess club participated in the National Chess Championship at Albuquerque, New Mexico. Adviser Stan Tinkle said "We enjoyed the competition and found it a great experience for the students."

Club Raises Funds For French Trip

"You don't have to know French in order to join the club," exclaimed club advisers, Anh Nghiem and Crystal Phillips. The purpose of the club was to share the French language and culture with interested students at Buena Park High.

There were about 30 members in the club. The nationalities of these students included Laotian, Vietnamese, Mexican, Japanese, Korean, Iranian and American. "What's unique about the club is that they all have one common interest in mind and that is to learn and get better acquainted with the country and people of France," commented Mrs. Nghiem. To do so, the club engaged in several field trips such as their visits to an all French school "Alliance Francaise" in Santa Monica. There, the students listened to French music and dined on French food.

The ultimate goal of the club was to raise enough money to go to France. But the club members agreed that a top priority for the funds was a scholarship. This scholarship was given to a senior club member.

"With the help of bingo and candy sales, the French club members are really optimistic and really worked hard towards their ultimate goal of going to France," concluded Mrs. Nghiem.

Asian Club Searches For Culture

One of the newest clubs on campus is the Asian Club. This club started when adviser Anh Nghiem saw many Oriental students attending BPHS. A brilliant idea occurred to her to unite these students to form a club.

The purpose of this club is to allow students an opportunity to exchange information on different backgrounds and cultures. This is done by cultural experiences, field trips, and by giving members a chance to get together and tell others about their home country.

The club members worked hard to raise funds for this club. Bingo and candy sales were a big part of the fund raising. The cabinet wisely chose to spend club money on scholarships for the graduating seniors, field trips, etc.

The Asian Club hopes to be more successful in the future, and by the looks of it, the Asian Club will become one of the most outstanding clubs on the campus of BPHS.

Korean Club Finds Custom

One of the most traditional clubs on campus was the Korean Club. The members carried on traditions like the celebration on Teacher's Day, when every teacher on campus received a carnation and a card the members made.

Also, the BPHS Korean Club united with Korean Clubs from different schools to compete in a variety of activities. This club got together with schools such as Garden Grove, Santiago, and Tustin. They competed in a variety of sports including volleyball, track, basketball, and kickball. One of the most enjoyable moments for all the members is when they won, and one of their traditions is to win.

The money method for this club is the car wash. The funds are spent on scholarships, field trips, Teacher's Day, and many other things including their banquet.

"With so many good things adding up and being carried on through the years, it seems as if it will be one of the most traditional and finest clubs on campus," says cabinet member Shelly Yang.

Foundations Explored By Heritages

The Black Heritage Club was established to inform black students of "their roots." The purpose of the club was also for students to learn about the unwritten history and things that are currently going on in the community concerning blacks. "There are so many good things that blacks have accomplished, and if the students know about these people with the positive influence, then maybe that will build the students self-esteem," commented BHC President Debbie Bellony.

The club has about forty active members. The club, during Martin Luther King's birthday week, had a speaker read a short excerpt concerning this very influential leader. Through Bingo and candy sales, the club was able to raise funds. These funds were used to rent tapes and have speakers for the club that would enrich their knowledge about black history.

They also had potluck dinner which allowed both the students and their parents to exchange information and just basically discuss black history. As club adviser Mike Johnson sums it up, "If you can't be proud of where you've come from then you won't be proud of where you're going"

An Experience For Everyone

Lil' Coyote Preschool provided an atmosphere of fun and learning for children whose parents must work. It was also a unique way for children to get a head start on kindergarten.

The preschool was taught by students who are enrolled in child development, during periods 1,2 and 3. Shannon Berge, a student in the class, explained that some took this class for fun, but others took it because of an interest in the field.

The child development class was a year long. The children came to a "mini-session" in January, and from March to June they attended a regular session. They learned about many subjects such as numbers, letters and shapes. The preschoolers and students had a busy schedule. First the students greeted the children, then it was craft time, next was music, freeplay, concept, clean up, snack, freeplay again, story time, math and science, P.E. and then quiet time just before going home.

The class was an experience for the students who were enrolled according to Barbara Bressler, the class instructor. They learned how to plan activities and handle children. Also, it was beneficial for the parents who knew that their children were in a safe place in the morning. But the children seemed to have the best benefit. They got a head start in their schooling.

Skiers Flee To Slopes

Ski Club got off to a much better start than last year when they encountered late snow. This year snow came early, so they were able to take many trips. This was great for the members.

They skied locally at Big Bear, Snow Summit, Snow Valley, Mountain High, and Gold Mine. They also went to Salt Lake City during winter vacation. This is the usual trip they take. The second trip was a four day excursion to Canada during spring break. This was a new, exciting addition to the club's activities.

During the course of the year, they had many meetings. In the meetings they would sometimes have someone come in and talk about the latest ski wear. They also watched movies about skiing, planned trips and went over the safety measures when skiing.

The club officers included President David Thibodeau, Vice-President Adam Hattan, and Treasurer, Secretary Marie Fredrick. They organized fund raisers to help with trips and to raise money for the prize for the skier of the year. This was awarded to the person who skies the most throughout the season. Adviser Ed Terwilliger and Mother Nature also helped make this ski season a successful one.

Choir Hits A New High

Choir and Vocal Ensemble had a non-stop year. For instance, in May they performed at the Southern California Vocal Association Choir Festival at the Orange County Performing Arts Center and at a spring concert.

Students who were involved with choir took it during third period. The Vocal Ensemble had practices two days a week, after school.

In choir, singers learned how to blend and balance their voices. They became aware of how good or bad their singing was. Mr. Oishi, choir director, said they had the ability to learn music quickly and when spring came, the group was able to sing more difficult music.

Mr. Oishi commented, "It doesn't matter if they're great singers as long as they can become better singers along the way." Also he said he "is proud of the group this year and happy that the faculty had a good reaction towards choir with letters of compliments."

For the future, Mr. Oishi would like to see choir grow in the years to come, have a class for Vocal Ensemble during school, and start up a Vocal Jazz group.

Acting With Class

Drama production was responsible for performing two plays this year. They did an excellent job on "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" and performed "You Can't Take It With You", the last week of March.

"One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" was about some men that were placed in a mental ward run by Nurse Ratchet, played by Wendy Molloy. The nurse had strict rules and convinced them that they could not face the real world. However, one day a man named McMurphy, played by Eric Baesel, arrived pretending to be insane. This man taught the patients what freedom was like and gained control of the men, who in turn, overpowered Nurse Ratchet. The whole story was told through the eyes of an Indian who was in the ward.

"You Can't Take It With You" dealt with the engagement between the son of the Kirby family, Tony, and the daughter of the Sycamore family, Alice. The daughter, played by Susana Garcia, felt that the families wouldn't get along so she planned to go to the mountains and think things through. Mr. Kirby went to the Sycamore's house for his son, Tony, played by Chris Molloy, and Grandpa Sycamore, played by Jason Sutton, talked to him about the family differences. Mr. Kirby realized the Sycamore family had something his was missing — a strong relationship. Grandpa and Mr. Kirby become friends and Alice realized the marriage could work so Tony and her got back together.

There were approximately 20 people in drama production. Students got involved by auditioning and attending the club meetings every other Thursday. The actors were responsible for learning their lines and maintaining proper stage behavior. Mr. Joe Parrish was the class director, but senior Wendy Molloy stated that the students got a chance to be stage managers.

The actors attributed their success to working really hard before a play. They practiced anywhere from 1½ to two months before the play and met three or four times a week.

Drama held a banquet at the end of the year in which the members were given serious awards for best actor/actress, and many received gag gifts.

Dancers Add A Little Dash Of Panache

Girls in dance production dance to their own beat. Their main goal is the spring concert and they devote every day sixth period, after school, Saturdays, and Easter break to practice. The theme for the concert "Party Panache" came about because all of the girls like to party and have fun, but they also work hard to get the job done. A few of the dances featured in the concert were, lyricals, abstracts, dramatics, westerns, childrens, and many others. In addition to the concert, dance production has also performed at Silverado Days, community Christmas shows, and at Fullerton District High School Festivals

The classes main accomplishment was to work on and perfect all of the dances for the concert. All of the girls find it fun when alumni school members come in to teach and help choreograph dances. Ms. Sally Thompson stated that she felt this year's class was the best class that she has had since 1981. All of the girls are doing a wonderful job and they should be rewarded for their time and effort. President Heather Boyd also added, "Dance production is hard work, but it has taught us discipline and responsibility."

The Spirit Club went wild with enthusiasm and support. The club attended varsity games, painted posters and cheered our teams to victory.

The Spirit Club raised money to cover the cost of their posters, paper and paints by selling Coyote bumper stickers and key chains seen around campus.

The club accomplished many things to be proud of. Secretary of Spirit Brenda Leupke said, "I feel we need more spirit. Green and white day was our best accomplishment and I feel our spirit will rise

Parents Launch Projects Upward

Special programs including the Honorary Service Awards, Open House, scholarships, Senior Reflections, stag dances, bingo, and necessities needed for team sports and field trips are sponsored by the Parent Teacher Association (PTSA) and the Master Booster Club. These organizations consist of parents who spend a great amount of time planning activities for students and staff.

The PTSA held meetings on the first Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. in the BPHS staff lounge. During the meetings, they spent time working hard on an act they hoped to qualify for the June 1988 ballot. This initiative is called the "Government Spending Limitation and Accountability Act." This act would adjust existing law to allow for economic growth for our schools. In order to place the initiative on the ballot, the coalition, including the PTSA, had to collect one million signatures in two to three months.

The Master Booster Club supported and promoted the specific needs of the athletic teams, academic programs, agriculture programs and our band. The Master Boosters provided new uniforms, field trips, banquets, awards, scholarships, major facility projects and many other items on campus.

Both the PTSA and the Master Boosters are comprised of parents who volunteered countless hours working on events like bingo or football games. With all the involvement and work they put in for BPHS, Mr. Giokaris, said, "Their participation and commitments make a positive difference on important programs for both students and staff."

Frosh Hit The Islands

The freshmen class had their first chance at pep week and they gave it a royal try. Decorating the gym with palm trees and pineapples, the class of '91 chose to go Hawaiian.

Freshmen planned their pep week skit to take place on an island. The main goal of the skit was to get off the island and to get to Hawaii by bus. The class of '91 displayed enthusiasm and showed true Hawaiian spirit.

Among the entertainment provided, the class of '91 also put on a banana eating contest. One member from each class was selected to participate. They were to peel the banana, eat it, and throw the peel up in the air. The senior class member was the first to finish the banana and captured the victory.

The freshmen put a lot of work into their pep week program and they seemed to enjoy it. Eric Turner added, "For our first pep week, I think we did a good job."

Hillbillies Have A Hokey Hoedown

Yee-haw! This was the cry of the class of '90 during Pep Week. Dressing up in overalls and straw hats they definitely got into the spirit of things.

For the pep rally, the gym was decorated with bails of hay and was filled with the sound of hillbilly music. The skit tried to show that sophmores were the best class and the rest were only second best. The pep cheerleaders gave an outstanding performance. Then the audience heard the sounds of hillbilly rap. The pep rally ended with the alma mater.

Although the sophmores did not win any awards, they pulled together to show the rest of the school their spirit.

Hippies Return In '89

With flower power behind them all the way, the junior class made a strong but "peaceful" showing at Pep Week. The negative side of the times was left out as juniors emphasized love and peace through music, long hair and, flowers. The class of '89 won all categories except best cheerleaders. This made them overall Pep Week winners.

For the first class competition at the pep rally, a duo from each class sang their best to impress. The juniors won with their rendition of "Twist and Shout." The second skit was a contest to win a date with the ultimate flower girl. Each boy was turned down except for the one who could really relate to her, a fellow junior hippie.

Helping to fuel the juniors' spirit and energy was the consistent leadership in the cabinet, adviser, and the class' unity. Overall, the class of '89's show was "totally groovy."

Superstars Seek Fame And Glory

"You ought to be in pictures. You're wonderful to see." This became the motto for the senior class for one day in February. On that final Friday of pep week, the usually anonymous students of the senior class transformed themselves into movie and television characters and personalities.

The "Stars of 88" could be seen casually walking around campus, talking to and signing autographs for their loyal fans. The celebrities ranged from the comedy duo of Laverne and Shirley with sidekick Squiggy to the dynamic duo Batman and Robin. Making special appearances were singers James Brown and Dolly Parton.

At the pep rally, the seniors made their grand entrance walking in two by two. The pep week cheerleaders started the rally with a routine, getting the crowd psyched up for the excitement to come. An episode of Hollywood Squares was performed for a live studio audience in the gym. The contestants chose a celebrity to answer a question and then tried to decide whether or not the celebrity's answer was the correct one. The overall champions were the seniors, winning thousands in valuable prizes.

The highlight of the rally came with the presentation of Buena Park's version of the Oscars, the Coyote Awards. The masters of ceremony were class advisers Garry Roswell and John Hufferd. Though the nominees were all outstanding, the senior class captured awards in every category. Another big favorite was the winner of best song, Buena Park's Alma Mater. This song capped off the rally, putting everyone in high spirits.

The seniors felt that this was the best performance in a pep week by the class of '88 in all four years. The unity and enthusiasm brought pride back into being a senior, setting a strong example for the underclassmen. The coneheads described it best in their statement "true." These seniors are true to their class and Buena Park High School.

Future Farmers Nurture Livestock

Some people may be under the impression that Future Farmers of America is a group of students who have nothing better to do with their time but sit around and talk to livestock. That's not true. The agriculture department takes great pride in its animals. Coming to school every morning on school days, holidays, and weekends to feed their animals takes a lot of dedication and hard work. Providing the love and care for their animals as well as a dry shelter, food, and water goes on every day until the Orange County Fair in July.

At the fair, the students in FFA submit their steer, pigs, sheep, etc. for judging and to be sold. The animals are weighed, priced on the pound, and auctioned off.

Money is an element that is very important to these projects. Over $1000 may go into raising a steer. After the fair, a profit of $300 may be the reward of a job well done. Each student has his or her own account at Security Pacific Bank. This allows easy access to money that may be needed for food, medicine, and other items for the animals. Loans and open credit for the future are also given by the bank.

Much time, effort, and money is put into these projects. To appreciate it, one needs to take the time to visit the farm and see what the FFA really does.

'88 Reigns Supreme

The senior class had many outstanding achievements. The cabinet did a great job with unity and unforgettable memories for the senior class.

The class of 1988 organized many successful fund raising activities including candy sales, a Las Vegas game booth at Silverado Days, and a car wash. Many of the seniors participated in these activities to make their year even more memorable.

Academically, the seniors worked hard on improving their CAP scores. Their goal was to do better than the seniors of 1987. Every senior had practice worksheets with questions similar to the actual test. This drill was done in the English classes to prepare the seniors for the test.

The class had a positive attitude toward many activities during the school year. This included more spirit, unity and upholding traditions. With so many accomplishments by the seniors, the "Class of 1988," became a true class act.

Blast From The Past

Picture this: a classic red and white '56 Chevy with white wall tires, just as stylish as the day it came off the assembly line. The lucky owner of this auto is Gary Polston, our own ASB secretary of student relations.

Polston bought the car in August 1987 by selling his Opel GT. He found his dream car in the classified section of the newspaper. He was looking for several cars of that style but actually wanted the '56 Chevy. The features that attracted him to the car were its size and classic lines. He likes cars of that era for their dependable frame and sturdy body. He also likes the chrome appearance.

Before the 50's fan got his hands on the car, it wasn't exactly in classic shape. The less-than-perfect car needed a new paint job, new tires and a new interior, in order to retain the car's original look. Fortunately, the car already has its original engine. It took about a month to achieve all these changes. Polston plans to add more to the car so it will include most of the parts the car would have back in 1956.

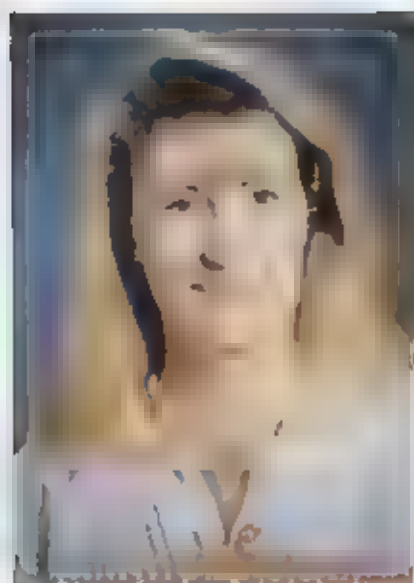

Overall, Polston wants to keep the car looking nice and in running condition. He said the smooth ride of his Chevy impresses him and the compliments he gets from older people and students are great flattery. He also receives compliments from people who appreciate classic cars. Being the only one at BPHS with a '56

Chevy just shows that the senior class full of individuals.

The Two Musketeers

Two lovely princesses, who happen to be sisters, have managed to reign over the Freeway League in Badminton for several years now Heather Hassinger and Tonya VanDervort

They each received their "badminton calling" their freshmen year after being introduced to the sport through their friends. Both Hassinger and VanDervort juggle a busy school day and practices that often run from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. Between them both, they have won numerous awards

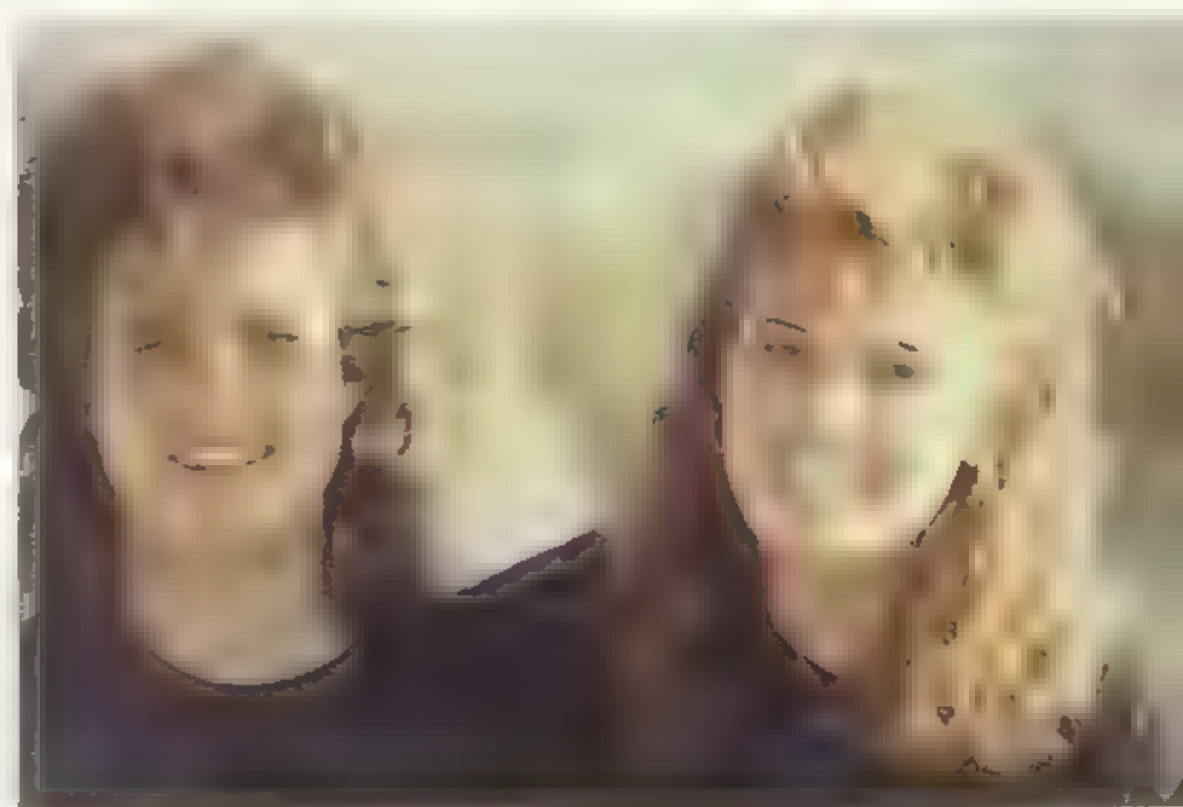

Hassinger, who has lettered every year, has been honored with awards. Of them are Most Improved, Most Valuable, Doctor Pepper (most valuable in league), and All-League honors. Her weapon of attack is the Yonex Carbonex racket strung at 15 lbs. of tension with real gut

When asked of her relationship with her sister Hassinger stated, "Sometimes I come home from school and the rivalry is so great, that I say to myself 'I have to push myself to be better'

VanDervort also explained her badminton relationship with Hassinger, "She poses a threat to me which makes me strive to be number one. Keeping in step with her sister, VanDervort has accomplished much. She has lettered every year, was Freeway League Player of the Year, and the Coca Cola M.V.P. in her junior year. Her greatest moment was when she and her companion/partner, Tu Le, won the doubles tournament in Garden Grove. There they battled a team that had given them difficulty in the past, and prevailed

Both players, while on the threshold of another year playing, agreed that badminton takes hard work, dedication, and mental and physical strength."

Swinging High

Most Buena Park students enjoy playing and watching common teenage sports such as football, baseball, tennis, and swimming. Senior Christopher Fukunaga is different. He enjoys golf.

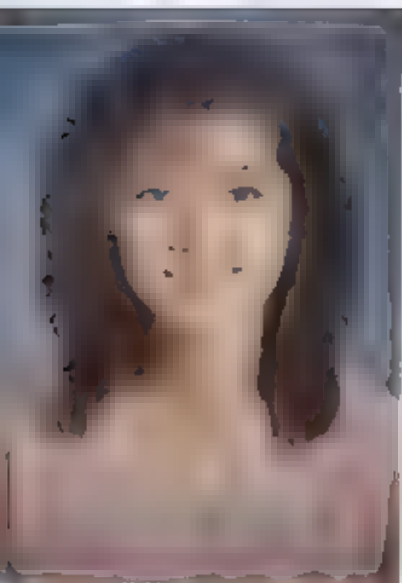

Fukunaga started to golf during the summer of his sophomore year. Since the first time he attempted it, golfing was such a good experience and so different that Fukunaga was influenced to continue golfing. "I realize that most people, especially students, don't like golf. I can relate to that because I didn't enjoy the game of golf either, until I played the game. Like most things, you need to try it to appreciate it," says Fukunaga.

Fukunaga and his friends John Freeman, Mike Pendarvis, Terry Wacker, and Todd Nakamoto usually golf at La Mirada golf courses. Fukunaga said that many times he and his friends have stayed at the course from dawn to dusk. He is still spending extra time learning about golf, because he knows that he will be playing the game for a long time to come. "Golf is the hardest game I have ever played. It's hard to be good at golf," states Fukunaga.

Fukunaga suggests that other high school students should try golf. He jokingly states that while playing the game of golf, he will temporarily escape the chaos of everyday life and "ascend to a higher plateau of existence." Fukunaga hopes that someday golf will become as big a money maker and as popular sport as football.

Juniors Hang Tough

As members of the class of 1988 finished off their reign, the class of '89 planned a successful year. Along with the help of his cabinet, President Erwin Masinsin organized many activities, but he said their main goals were to win Pep Week and to have a memorable Junior/Senior Prom.

Because prom was a big part of this year's class responsibility, many fund raisers had to be organized. "Selling Homecoming candy grams and the usual favorite, M&M's, were some of the fund raisers used," said Treasurer Marsha Fruneaux. She added that much of the money came from Saturday night bingo.

School activities proved to be a hit with many of the juniors because of the spirit they showed at pep rallies. Many junior class members showed their class devotion by regularly attending lunch time meetings. Erwin Masinsin said, "More people came to lunch time meetings this year, and it's great that everybody gets involved."

The class of '89 proved they can be more spirited in school activities and keep traditions going with the help of a qualified class cabinet and students who get involved.

Trotting Toward Success

Some students have jobs working in a mall or behind the grill, but one of the more interesting positions is held by Luis Valdivia. Valdivia trains and rides horses to entertain customers at Medieval Times located on Beach Blvd. in Buena Park.

Valdivia was introduced to riding 11 years ago by his grandfather in Peru. Since the age of five, he has been involved with horses and has enjoyed riding and training them. He said that his younger brother would like to follow in his footsteps.

Valdivia was asked to work at Medieval Times by the owner, and the encouragement of his family helped him feel confident about taking on the job. When Valdivia is out performing in front of a live audience he said there is a lot of pressure, but the roar of the crowd and the loud applause makes his job easier. He especially enjoys working with the horses.

When he's not on horse back, Valdivia enjoys playing soccer and swimming.

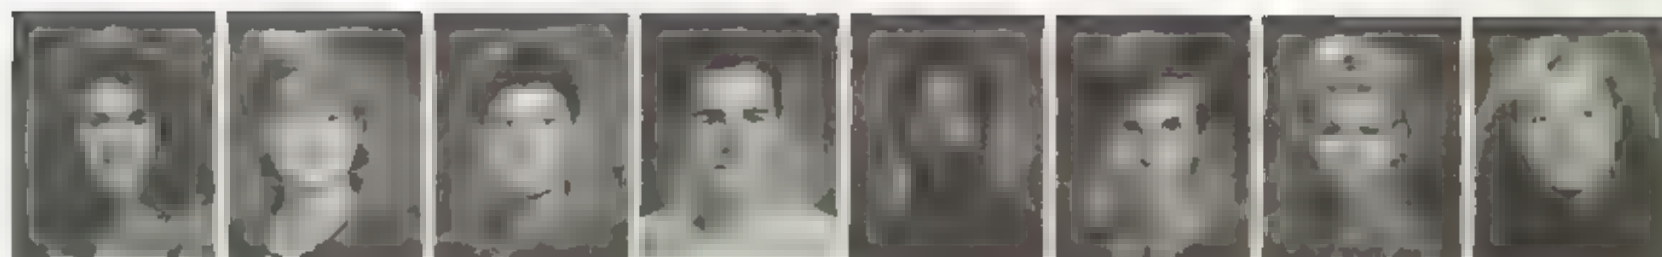

For future plans, Valdivia would like to work in the entertainment field or as a rider and trainer of rare breeds of horses.

Three juniors talk about the latest gossip at lunch

Coyotes Behind The Wheel

In October of the 1987-88 school year, 100 juniors participated in a survey about their cars. According to the survey, 60 juniors had cars and 40 did not. Following are the questions asked, with the answers chosen most often.

1. Q: What do you use your car for?
A: Personal use, classes and school activities.
2. Q: Is your car foreign or domestic?
A: Domestic.
3. Q: What do you think of your car?
A: Like it.
4. Q: Do you prefer compact, mid size or large sized cars?

A: Compact cars.

5. Q: Do you prefer a stick shift or an automatic?
A: Stick shift.
6. Q: How did you get your car?
A: Parents or other family members.
7. Q: How often has your car failed you?
A: Never.
8. Q: How old is your car?
A: Eleven years or more.

Actor Achieves Star Billing

Entering a bright new field is junior Josh Schilling. As an experienced actor of two years, Schilling has been a big star of the Buena Park stage. He started his acting in his freshman year. He says Mr. Parrish was a big part of his involvement in acting because of his great support and coaching.

Schilling's first play was "A Town Called Free," performed during a summer theater workshop. His next major production was the "Good Doctor." After that play, he had parts in "The Night of January 16th," "Story Tale Theater," "Odd Couple," and this year's fall play, "One Flew Over The Cuckoo's Nest."

Schilling played the part of Billy Bibbit in the last production. He said he enjoyed this character because he played a very emotional person and he liked the crowd to get involved with the character.

He mentioned that he received tremendous support from his parents and friends. He said, "My parents applaud all my performances and they're always there to watch me." When Schilling is not practicing or performing his drama, he is usually out with his friends or listening to music.

He is undecided about his future as an actor but would enjoy the opportunity to perform on the stage or screen. When asked how he would like to be remembered, Schilling said "as a regular guy who enjoyed school and performing on stage."

Sophomores Support School

At the beginning of the year, President Sandy Chun wondered about the success of the class of 1990. The president emphasized wanting to achieve a great year. In order to make this happen she said the sophomore class had "to get involved in school activities, such as pep rallies and pep week." They met weekly during lunch with their adviser, Eileen Nakagawa. Secretary David Kang mentioned, "At meetings, many class members expressed their opinions and discussed what the class can do to improve it." Another way they got support from the class was when they planned many class activities such as a scavenger hunt.

The sophomore class broke the tradition of selling candy as in previous years. Instead, the treasurer, Caroline Ngo, commented, "Bingo would be a big fund raiser because many clubs and activities on campus made a lot of money that way."

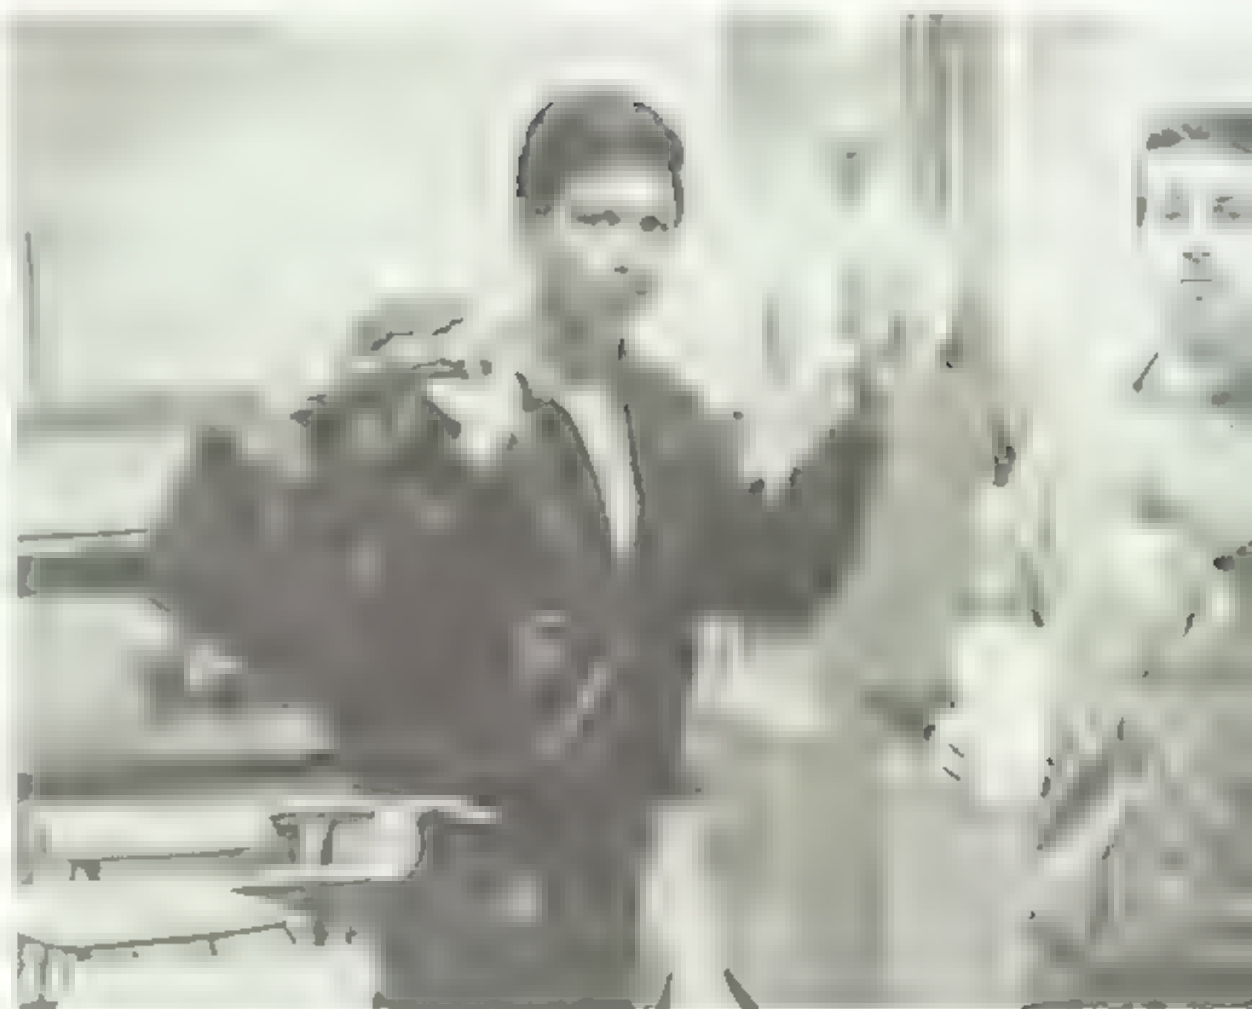

When asked how the sophomore class would like to be remembered, Sandy Chun said, "We would like to show that we can be spirited and have a good year."

The class cabinet was President Sandy Chun, Vice-President David Vanwesterhuysen, Secretary David Kang and Treasurer Caroline Ngo.

With the involvement of a busy class cabinet and a helpful class adviser, the sophomore class will be remembered for their hard work and involvement.

Disaster Strikes Nearby

On October 1, 1987 many students experienced the first major earthquake of their lifetimes. It began at 7:42 a.m. It rated a 5.9 on the richter scale. It occurred near the Whittier fault. According to the International Conference of Building Officials, the earthquake was felt throughout the Los Angeles basin where several deaths were reported along with approximately $250 million in damages.

Sophomores were asked where they were during the quake. Some were on the bus or in a car on their way to school. Others were in their homes and some were already at school. When asked what their reactions were to it, some commented that they didn't even feel it, or that they thought it was neat and funny. But some found it to be scary. One sophomore even said that her brother yelled to get out of the house. Once out she realized that all she had on was a shirt. Another commented that his brother almost got crushed by a television.

The earthquake made people stop and think. Some started to learn procedures to know what to do in case anything like this would ever happen again. For instance, the school had several earthquake drills and teachers went over information on earthquakes with their classes.

If the "Big One" should ever occur, hopefully everyone will be prepared.

Bell Discusses Sex Education

Mr. Ken Bell, instructor of health, feels a better name for sex education is family life education. Bell has been teaching health at Buena Park for 26 years. Bell feels that the most important thing he teaches his students is how to be responsible for their actions and to handle the long and short term effects of those actions.

Recently the disease AIDS has been highly publicized. Bell covers the subject of AIDS and other related diseases with his students. Bell learns all of his information about AIDS from pamphlets put out by the Red Cross, videos, and television programs. During Bell's discussion, he often uses recorded programs so students can have a better understanding.

In an attempt to meet a state mandate, the school showed a movie about AIDS called "A Letter From Brian" to each grade level. Bell feels confident that students understand such diseases but he feels students think it cannot happen to them.

Even though health is only one semester, the students learn to talk openly. Bell waits until the end of the semester to teach sex education. By doing this, the students feel more comfortable and are able to ask questions about films and lectures for better understanding.

On the average, Bell feels most students are mature enough to handle discussions about sex. If Bell has problems with a student he will send the student or students outside. He says, "I put them outside and do not give them any info."

In recent years, Bell claims that the most asked questions, from students, deal with methods and ways to prevent unplanned pregnancy. However, the school district does not permit the actual teachings of techniques related to family planning.

In conclusion, Bell's message to girls is that guys should respect girls' beliefs and if they don't, then the guy doesn't care enough for a girl to bother with. To guys he states you should respect girls' feelings and understand your responsibilities.

Bell strongly believes that sexual matters should be discussed at home. He realizes that many families don't discuss such matters and the class is there to help the students understand sex so they don't face any unplanned problems.

Oswaldo Huerta and Anthony Dagestino wander toward the locker room after school

Steer Chases Student

I was walking my steer on a Saturday afternoon on the football field. I decided to let him graze on the field. I wasn't paying too much attention, then suddenly he charges at me. I ran and ran until he got tired of chasing me.

This little incident was brought to you by sophomore FFA student Alex Flores. Flores has been running around the Buena Park farm for two years. He owns a steer and ewe. He says his cousin Rafael Alarcon got him started with raising animals.

Flores can be seen every day before and after school at the BPHS farm. While he is at the farm, he takes care of his two animals. He usually takes care of his ewe during first period because the ewe only has to be fed and watered once a day. He feeds his steer twice a day and bathes it often. He said taking care of his steer is a big challenge, because you have to walk him, wash him, work on his posture, and groom him. Flores said, "It is worth it because at the fair you can sell your animal to a major store or earn an award for his looks."

During his time away from the farm, Flores enjoys swimming for the Buena Park swim team and riding an ATV. Flores future is to major in animal science and minor in computers. "In college, agriculture will be a part of me, but I won't make a life out of it," he said.

Four sophomores clap for their fellow classmates during their pep rally

Enthusiasm Sparks Freshmen Unity

The freshmen class had many things they would have liked to accomplish, but in the past nine months they realized it will take time to fulfill their goals.

The freshmen class started the year off by electing the class officers. Officers were President Christina Barron, Vice-President Dena Hayes, Secretary Ina Sicat, Treasurer Cheryl Smith and Class Representative Kim McCuiston.

Some of the goals the class talked about were to put more spirit into the class and increase unity. Another thing that they discussed was to plan a bingo night. Treasurer Cheryl Smith said, "Bingo can really help our bank account."

During a class meeting in adviser Rita Tayenaka's room, President Christina Barron commented, "Everybody likes to express their ideas about spirit and pep week." This was evident when the class won the cheerleading competition during Pep Week.

When asked how they would like to be known at the end of the year the class officers said, "As a class with a good reputation that just had a good year."

Frosh Are Going Places

Many students are very active in their high school years and they try to enjoy them to the fullest. Going out is a great way to meet people and many students achieve this by going to school or sports events and usually hunting up a party afterwards. A majority of the seniors, juniors, and even a few of the sophomores have cars, but what about the freshmen? How do they get around?

On January 6, 1988 several students were asked who they depended on for transportation. Since freshmen do not have cars, most of them said that they depend on their family or friends to take them to the mall, school, or wherever they need to go. When asked, "Does it bother you that you always have to depend on other people to take you everywhere?", most students said no. On the other hand, Caprice Glasgow, Amy Young, and a few other students stated that it really does bother them, but there is nothing that they can do about it. It is obvious that the consensus among freshmen is that they look forward to getting a car so they do not have to depend on other people for transportation.

Making Dreams Come True

Luis Meneses casually waits for his picture to be taken.

Luis Meneses has the dream of making it to the top as a professional skater

Meneses' cousin got him started skateboarding when he was eleven years old. Meneses says that he finds the sport very interesting and a lot of fun, too. Meneses feels that if he was to get into skating professionally, he could also make a lot of money. His idol is Chris Cook, who skates for Alva skateboards

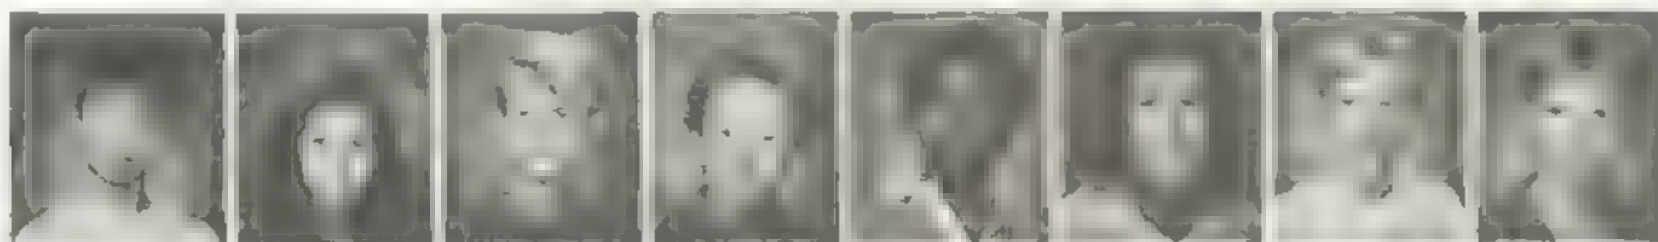

When Meneses finds time, he practices about 4½ hours a day by skating in the streets and at a skateboarding park called Sad Lands. A few of Meneses' favorite tricks are ollies, which is jumping the board, and truck grinds, which is getting air. Meneses enjoys competing against his friends, but he has not yet competed in any contest.

With a lot of practice, which Meneses is doing all of the time, hopefully his dream of being a professional skater will come true.

Freshman Dominates Female Athletics

Sandy Bodnar is not your average freshman. She is involved in three varsity sports. She is involved in varsity volleyball, basketball, and softball.

In the fall, she participates in varsity volleyball. She is a middle blocker on the squad. Due to an injury this season she was not able to perform to her expected abilities.

During the winter sports season she is involved with girls basketball. She starts and plays the forward and center position. When asked if her injury affected her in any way, she said, "No, because the time off from volleyball helped heal the injury; it also gave me time to strengthen my shoulder." The varsity basketball coach Mike Johnson commented, "Sandy Bodnar probably has the most talent of anyone on the team. By the time she is a senior she could be All-California if she continues to work hard and push herself and doesn't give in by taking the easy way out like some other athletes."

During the spring sports season she is involved in varsity softball, where she plays shortstop.

During school time Bodnar said she concentrates on her school work. "The study hall during sixth period really helps, because I can finish my homework."

While she is not in school Bodnar likes to do art and have odd jobs. She says working at her grandmother's waterbed company is the sort of job she likes. She also enjoys the support she receives from her family because her mom and brother attend all the games and go out of their way to help the team.

Bodnar's goals are to study and practice hard because some day she would like to play basketball for the University of Southern California

Building a Future

Helping to build the foundation for future life is what the home economics department does. Foods I, advanced foods, Clothing I and 2, and childcare teach the basic skills needed for running a home. Special projects like Lil' Coyote Preschool, Adoptive Program Preschool, Prom Fashion Show, luncheons and barbeques, help enhance those techniques learned in the classroom.

The main objective of this department is "to have the students come out of the classes with a general knowledge of how to manage and live on their own," commented Mrs. Rita Tayenaka, department leader. "We hope to improve the student's decision making skills, leadership skills, reading and writing as well as improve their cooking, sewing, and child development skills."

The departmental program changes constantly to meet the changing needs of the students and to suit the updated information, but the revisions do not change the effectiveness of the class, according to Tayenaka.

Home economics has evolved into a most beneficial class providing a valued learning experience for anyone who plans to live on their own.

Science, Math

Give a Little

"The new science labs have greatly enhanced the science curriculum," according to Mr. Gary Peebles, biology and life science instructor. Construction on the science labs was started in the summer of 1986 and they were completed in April 1987. Therefore, this was the first year that the science teachers and students were really able to experience working in the new labs.

The most important additions were the two rooms added to the science department. This provided a room for each teacher and more work space for the students. Peebles stated, "The labs have encouraged us, as teachers, to do more lab experiments and motivated the students in a lab situation."

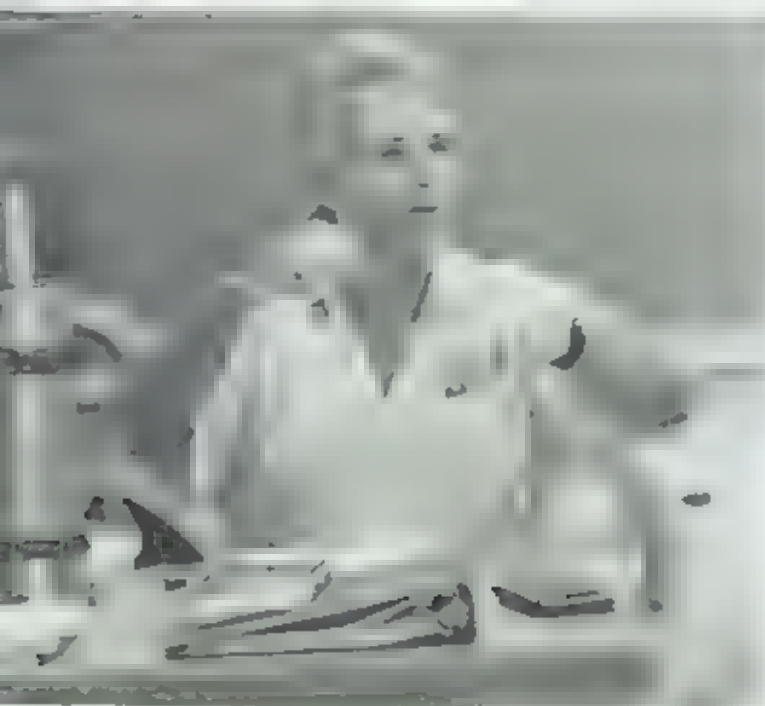

Although the labs were a great enhancement to the curriculum, their design did have a few weaknesses. According to Peebles, the architectural design was altered from the original plans, causing an inadequate number of electrical outlets, and the cabinetry seemed to be less durable than the previous shelves and cupboards.

Aside from the minor drawbacks, they have boosted the science experience to a new and exciting level. "In general, it's great," Peebles said enthusiastically. "Everyone has their own room, good working space, but little things need work. I guess you have to give a little to take a little."

Broadcasting on Campus

Rock music. Parties. The weekend. The beach. These are typical topics that the high school student dwells on. But what about television broadcasting? That is a subject most high school students don't think about and yet it is right here on our campus, in the industrial arts building, as part of the R.O.P. program.

It was started in the spring of 1987 by former principal Jim Bremer in cooperation with Comcast cable vision, which provided the equipment; R.O.P., which provided the trained workers; and B.P.H.S., which provided the facilities to house the program and the students to participate in it.

The purpose of the program is to teach the students skills in video and T.V. production. "The students enjoy it, but most of them didn't know what they were getting into," exclaimed R.O.P. instructor Debbie Vinsel. "It's a lot of hard work, but the students enjoy it."

Students learn how to run equipment, such as cameras and monitors, edit and splice programs, and some other basic skills such as dependability and responsibility.

"The hardest thing about the program is promoting it," stated Vinsel, "but that is improving as more students are enrolling in the class."

This program will benefit students in the future, especially those who plan to work in television production.

Help is on the Way

Assistance for the students. Assistance for the teachers. This is what the instructional aides provide. For the students, they help by tutoring and giving additional help during class time. For the teachers, they perform tasks that the teachers do not have time to complete, such as running off copies, calling parents, and typing papers. They also help with special events like the P.S.A.T. and Back-to-School Night.

The biggest challenge with being an aide is "communicating with the foreign students and getting them through the first week of school," commented aide Paula Braman, "but it is also the most rewarding experience when the students make it into a higher English class such as English 3, and make an A."

Aides are placed according to their abilities and interests. For example, aides that know other languages might help in an English as a Second Language class.

It takes a special person to be an aide. A community college degree is required and the person must have an ability to work and get along with the students and teachers. Students and teachers who are fortunate enough to work with the aides know just how special this group is.

Center Provides Opportunities

The career center is worth a visit for the students who wish to find out information about their job interests and colleges.

The career center carries a wide variety of pamphlets on colleges in and out of California. Also, you might find out how much money is needed to go to that special college. Another piece of information that is available is financial aid for the low income families. The career center is also the place to find out about all the varieties of tests and college entrance exams a student can take.

Also made available in the career center are pamphlets on the armed forces. Representatives from the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marines visit with students to discuss a career in the service.

The career center has two special instructional programs. One of these programs is directed toward the freshmen. The freshmen world history classes are given the opportunity to go to the career center to complete a variety of surveys to discover what job might interest them. This is also available for the upper classmen. The second program is the employers program. In this program, employers call Mrs. Nancy Burkhart, head of the career center, and put in a request for young, exuberant employees. Mrs. Burkhart, in turn, spreads the word about the job.

Counseling and the center go hand in hand. The career center is actually considered part of counseling and Mrs. Burkhart helps with registration and schedule planning.

The career center has been at our school for about 15 years now, according to Mrs. Carol Sandtner, student counselor. She also states that before that, job and college information was available, however, the only difference is that now the computer programs and information are centralized.

The center is funded by the school and Mrs. Burkhart said she decides what is needed to make the center run efficiently

Principals Take Fresh Approach

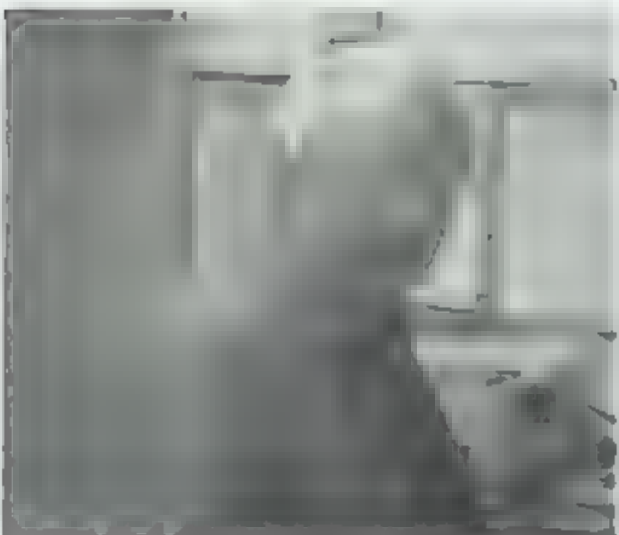

Fresh approaches to administration were undertaken by newcomers Principal George Giokaris and Assistant Principal Nancy Clement. Mr. Giokaris began his career at B.P. in 1974 and over a nine year period taught history, German, E.S.L., health, P.E., and acted as track coach and athletic director. He spent the last four years as assistant principal at Sunny Hills High School, then was named principal at Buena Park High School. Mr. Giokaris said that there were no major adjustments, simply, he had to get to know people and let people get to know him.

His long term goals for the school include helping students to learn, grow and set high expectations for themselves. He also wants to provide more opportunities for parents and local businesses to get involved. He also hoped to establish a direction of curriculum improvement in all areas. He said his most important responsibility is to provide a positive role model. "A positive role model has care and concern for others, high expectations, appreciates all members of the community and has the ability to work with others," stated Giokaris.

Mrs. Clement was a teacher and activities director at Anaheim High School before she joined the Coyotes. The transition to a new school and district seems to have been a rather easy one, since Clement joked that her only major adjustment was having to get a lot of green and white clothes. Mrs. Clement is in charge of campus discipline, student activities and athletics. She also provides support for the teachers in any disciplinary action needed. One improvement she mentioned that might increase school spirit is to have more green around the school and change the pea green lockers and doors to kelly green.

Mrs. Clement came to B.P. because she was looking for an administrative position and because she "really enjoys the students and staff."

Business Skill For Students

The business department covers all of the classes needed to get a good job in the business field. These classes range anywhere from typing to advanced accounting to computers.

Mrs. Dicksie Meier, head of the department, has been teaching at Buena Park for 28 years. Miss Sylvia Vratatos, who instructs typing, has taught at Buena Park for 18 years and before that at La Habra for 12 years. Mrs. Sharon Taylor, instructor of computers, has been at Buena Park for 2 years. Both Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Meier are graduates of U.S.C.

In order for these three teachers to teach in the business department, they felt it was essential for them to hold a job in the field that they teach. Mrs. Taylor worked in a personnel office. Miss Vratatos' reply was, "Of all the jobs I have held, I really enjoyed public relations."

Technology has done quite a bit for business. Now these teachers can teach the word processing programs available today. Mrs. Taylor said that technology has taken us from typewriters to computers that mail. Technology has also made it possible to print out books that give illustrations of the new programs. This in turn enables the student to have a better understanding of the programs they are learning.

Staff Implements Strategies

What is Special Education? According to Mrs. Jeanne Wong, head of the department "It is a program for students with identified learning disabilities." These students are placed into non-competitive small group situations. They also have an individual education plan (IEP) to help remediate their academic deficiencies and to assure their success in the regular classroom.

The special education department is made up of various programs. One of these programs is the Resource program. The resource specialist functions as a supplementary aid to the resource student. The major goal of the program is to enable students to function in the regular classrooms with minimal support from a resource specialist. Students are taught learning strategies in sentence writing, scanning of textbooks, and literature analysis. According to Mrs. Wong, BPHS has the "most outstanding resource center in the area."

Another program in the department is the Special Day class. These are special classes that offer remediation in the areas of reading, math and spelling. In these classes, the student-teacher ratio is approximately 15 to 1. These classes also work with special materials geared to improve the achievement level of the students. Another goal of this program is to help students to be successful in as many regular classes as possible.

The special education program has a club called Prominent Paws in which the students have fund raisers that help pay for field trips and special awards geared toward academic achievements and behavioral growth.

Terwilliger Talks Shop

"With plastics your creative mind can soar," according to Mr. Ed Terwilliger, head of the industrial arts department and teacher of plastics and drafting. "Plastics is the place to learn a wide variety of things that change year by year."

One can also learn how to make molds, patterns, fiberglass car parts, vacuum formed dishes, and surfboards. Overall, it will teach you the basic skills used in industry.

Many people may think an industrial arts class is dangerous, but Terwilliger reassures students that teachers, "try to make things fool-proof."

Terwilliger has been teaching at Buena Park High for sixteen years. During that time he has taught wood shop, auto, and graphic arts (printing), just to name a few. Some jobs he held in the past that related to his field of teaching were a mechanic's trainee and a gas station attendant. He has also worked for a plastics company tht builds racing boats.

Terwilliger is a man of many talents who enjoys water and snow skiing in his free time. He is also half owner of a race car and has completely restored a 1970 Ford Mustang.

Athletics Meets 2.0

Mr. Dan Hirsch, athletic director, was very optimistic about this year's season in sports. As athletic director, he is in charge of coordinating the athletic contests.

On the subject of sports participation in the Fullerton Union High School District, Mr. Hirsch said, "Buena Park has the highest ratio in participation." Overall, the most participation is in football and basketball. He added that he still would like to see more participation in all of the sports.

So far, the 2.0 grade point average policy has not affected participation in the sports program. On January 1st, 1987, the state passed the 2.0 grade point average for athletes. In order for the athletes to participate in any sport, they must maintain this 2.0 grade point average and have no more than 1 unsatisfactory citizenship grade. However, a one season probationary period is available. Both CIF and the state legislature allowed the district the option to offer the probationary period. Mrs. Nancy Clement, assistant principal, says about this policy, "I feel it is important that students maintain academic achievements." Mr. Hirsch seems confident that participation in sports will not decrease any because of this new policy. He does state, however, that the athletes citizenship grades are the biggest problem.

In order for all coaches to succeed, funding is needed. The department receives its funds from the school. All of the coaches discuss what is needed and Coach Hirsch gives the "go ahead." Mr. Hirsch said if he was given a great quantity of money, he would spend it on the students. He says he would spend it on "... positive motivational things that will help the kids do better." Bingo also helps raise money for the program. Mr. Hirsch commented that, "The people who run bingo are extremely dedicated and truly committed to the betterment of our youth."

Seniors Dominate Spirited Squad

Mascots Danielle Sokol and Kimberly Heiser

Enlivening the spirit of the students at Buena Park High School, the varsity songleaders had an outstanding year. With smiles, enthusiasm and using new cheers and routines learned at camp, they supported all varsity sports whether a victory or loss.

Camp took place in August at California State University, Long Beach. There they won a superior ribbon for their camp routine, two spirit sticks, recognition of spirit, and individual ribbons.

In May of last year, songleaders were selected. However, they had to go through many trials before achieving the honor. First, they underwent an interview given by alumni song leaders and advisers. Then preliminary tryouts in front of a board cut the number of people down. They were judged on personality, kicks, form, experience, enthusiasm and routine. The finalists then performed in front of the student body and were voted on.

Being a song leader is not as easy as one might think. They practiced every week for six hours and performed at varsity games. They also had fundraisers to buy equipment that might be needed. Finally, they had to maintain at least a 2.25 grade point average.

This year's song leaders were committed to having a great year through their excellent unity, showmanship and outstanding spirit.

Spirit Shines Through

"This Is It" was the theme for the USA Spirit Camp the pep squad attended in August at Cal State Long Beach. To prepare them for the upcoming 87-88 school year, the cheerleaders put many long hours in at camp and learned many routines including the camp dance and the time-out cheers performed at pep rallies and games.

Varsity Yell showed much spirit at camp. They won four superior ribbons, a superior trophy, and brought home two spirit sticks. Spirit sticks are given to the squad which shows the most spirit and unity throughout the week of camp.

Practice for the squad started early in the summer and lasted throughout the school year. They practiced many long, hard hours learning new routines and perfecting old ones.

Members of the squad were: Lori Morley, head; Jeanne Yew, co-head; Cindy Maitland, Susanna Garcia, Rachel Bottka, and Brenda Vitali.

With terrific leadership and experience, Varsity Yell cheered the students and athletes on to a great and spirited year. The 87-88 school year reached new highs in spirit and unity thanks to the talented pep squad.

J.V. Pep Squads Cheer Gallantly

Junior Varsity Song and Yell had a challenging year. Both squads worked hard at improving school spirit and encouraging the Coyotes at the games during the year. Being in J.V. Song or Yell was both a lot of fun and hard work. To be on either squad members had to be very responsible and participate in all the activities. They also had to maintain a grade point average of 2.25 or better.

J.V. Yell worked diligently, learning the yells and getting the crowds at the games to chant the Coyote players on. Katie Welker and Julie Gelfand headed the squad and sure that everyone was prepared for the games.

J.V. Song also came a long way. They worked hard at building school spirit, which was one of their goals. They participated in school assemblies and attended frosh/soph games. During the year they got to know each other better and found they had a lot in common. "Most of us are in dance," said Kelly Vincent, the head of the squad. They worked together to overcome their differences and to achieve one of their goals of more unity.

A Non-Stop Year

The Marching Coyotes had their share of difficulties but came out with flying colors. Each group started out fairly unexperienced. Even so, they were enthusiastic about getting started on routines and music.

Band, drill, and flag members started out working together on the field or half-time show. Field patterns were put together to the bands renditions of "Excelsior," "La Bamba," "Islands in the Sky," and "Power Lines."

After marching season, winter guard began for the auxiliaries. During winter guard, the rifle unit was organized and performed with the flags, together they became colorguard. The marching band transformed into the concert band.

Concert band hosted the North Orange County Honor Band and festivals for both vocals and instrumentals. Also they started a combined program with the Junior High Leaders were Drum Major Ron McKay, Drill Captains Heena Contractor, Lisa Urias, and Flag Captains Michelle Hunt and Jeanine Bourcier. The advisers were Todd Oishi, band and Barbara Bressler, auxiliaries. Instructors were Brian Glahn, band and colorguard and Janalee Olhausen, drill team.

In review, the Marching Coyotes had many awards for their competitions. As Mr. Oishi said, "It doesn't matter if they lose, only if they do their best."

New Staff Helps Get Foot In Door

The Varsity Football team decided to break tradition by starting out the football season with a winning record. At first, it looked like it was going to be a repeat of last year. Then out of the blue, they won their game against Glenn 17-16. They went on to win two more off-season games against Magnolia and Savanna

One of the big wins of the year came when the Coyotes defeated Savanna 28-0. In the first half, the football team had control of the ball but were only able to put one touchdown in the end zone. But when the second half came, the team was ready. They made three touchdowns in the second half. "The team was a second half team all year," said senior Mike Reading

Under the leadership of Coach Foley, skills were developed so Buena Park could become a winning team. Coach Foley put the football team through vigorous workouts to prepare them for their games. He also made sure they found time to get their schoolwork done. He did this by making them use 6th period as a study hall and beginning practice after school.

Commitment Pays Off

With great expectations and outstanding talent the 1987-88 Frosh and J.V. football teams set forth on their quests for league championships.

Coaches Will Capps and John Baratti showed the way for the freshman team. According to Coach Capps, this year's team seemed to have the most talent as well as the best record when comparing it to past teams. According to Capps, the team was led by outstanding players like John Sinohui, running back, Chris Medina, fullback, and Jesus Frausto, linebacker.

When asked about his main concerns for the athlete, Coach Capps replied that safety was a high priority as well as the player's schoolwork and their future.

The coaches for the J.V. team were Gary Gray and Mike Capps. According to them, part of the reason for the team's success was their off-season weight training program. Outstanding players like Gerald Hickman, tailback, Teo Teofilo, quarterback, Dennis Tantorres, linebacker, and David Beltran, safety, led the team to victory.

During their practices, the team concentrated on fundamentals, blocking and tackling drills, and getting ready for their next opponent. The coaches stressed the importance of scholastics, taught them as much football as possible, and showed them how to maintain a winning attitude.

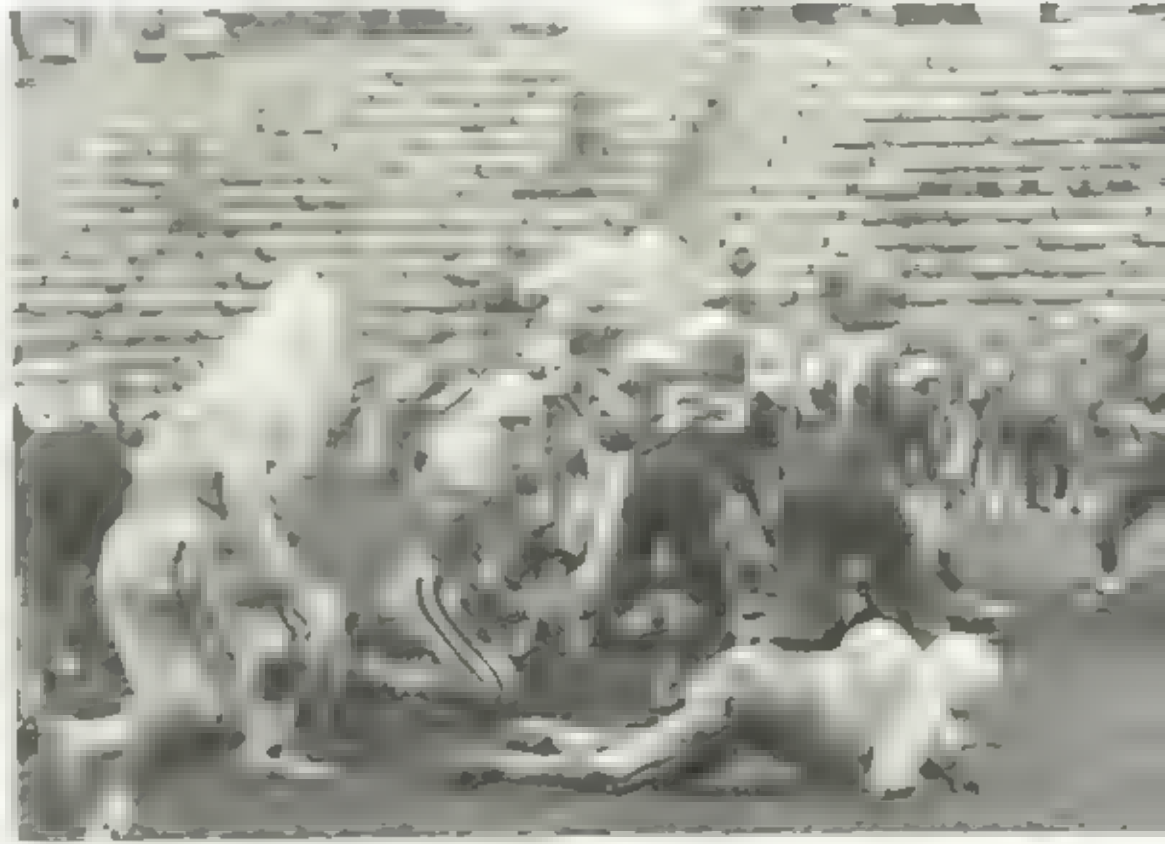

With continued strong coaching and the great talent that exists here at Buena Park, the future of the football program looks bright.

Water Polo's Quest Bears Desired Fruit

As the sun's golden rays bathed the pool and the water polo team in its light, Coach Ted Clark described his feelings about the season. The team was ranked in CIF's top ten throughout much of the year. But with three other highly ranked teams in the Free-way League, he said the Coyotes had their work cut out for them.

Their main goal was to qualify for the post season CIF playoffs. They accomplished this goal, going in ranked second in league. This was their best finish in five years.

When asked about the team, Coach Clark exclaimed, "We had a well-balanced team this year, more so than usual." The starting line up and their positions were: senior Joe Standeford in the cage, senior Craig Garcia at hole set, senior Steve Rhee as driver, and seniors Rafael Alarcon, Eric Burke, Jeff Cummins, Chris Davidson, and Chris Foley as outside guns.

Many players, through outstanding individual performances, were voted into All-League honors. Making first team All-League were seniors Craig Garcia and Steve Rhee. Players voted second team All-League were seniors Rafael Alarcon, Chris Foley, and Joe Standeford. Finally, players voted honorable mention were seniors Eric Burke and Jeff Cummins.

In this, his last year coaching, Coach Clark expressed his true thoughts, "They were truly a group of outstanding individuals who made my last water polo season a distinct pleasure in all respects, especially the gold watch at the banquet."

They seemed to do it all this year. They accomplished their primary goals and had many All-League honors. More importantly, they found in themselves memories they will not soon forget.

Polo Shoots For Goals

The Frosh/Soph Waterpolo team came back ready for another exciting season. With their new coach Rick Fierro, this year's team proved to be a good one. "These guys have talent," said Fierro.

Improving their offense and defense with numerous passing and shooting drills during their afternoon practices, helped their performances in many games.

Like any other Buena Park team these boys would have liked to beat Sunny Hills High School. "This was my goal for the team," explained Fierro. Although a defeat was taken, they still have until their next meeting to improve their tactics and winning strategy.

Overall, a first or second place would have been well-deserved, but a third place was what the Fish accomplished in Freeway League competition.

Dynasty Continues

Cross Country was better than ever, according to Coach Dan Hirsch.

The team started out by running 20 to 30 miles per week, during the summer. Little by little the mileage increased to 40 miles per week. During the last ten days of August, the team went to Mammoth Lakes, California to train in high altitude. There the team trained 85 miles in a ten day period.

At the start of the season, the Coyotes were ranked 5th in Orange County and CIF, by the coaches association poll. Eventually the team moved to 4th place in the CIF and Orange County rankings.

The first race the Coyotes encountered was the Woodbridge Invitational. The team was third out of 60 schools. The major victory came when the team won the Sonora Invitational. Not only did the Coyotes win the invitational, they crushed their rivals, La Habra High. Named by Coach Hirsch as outstanding runners were Chong Lee and Hector Madrid.

After Sonora, the team took on Sunny Hills and Fullerton high schools. A perfect score was accomplished. That is, the Coyotes took first through fifth place.

It was now time to take on the defending league champions, La Habra. It was pretty close at the first mile mark, however, by the two mile mark the Coyotes had destroyed the field. The Coyotes won the meet and were now the Freeway League champions. Outstanding runners of the meet were Gabriel Sanchez, Antonio Sanchez and Jesus Ocana said Coach Hirsch.

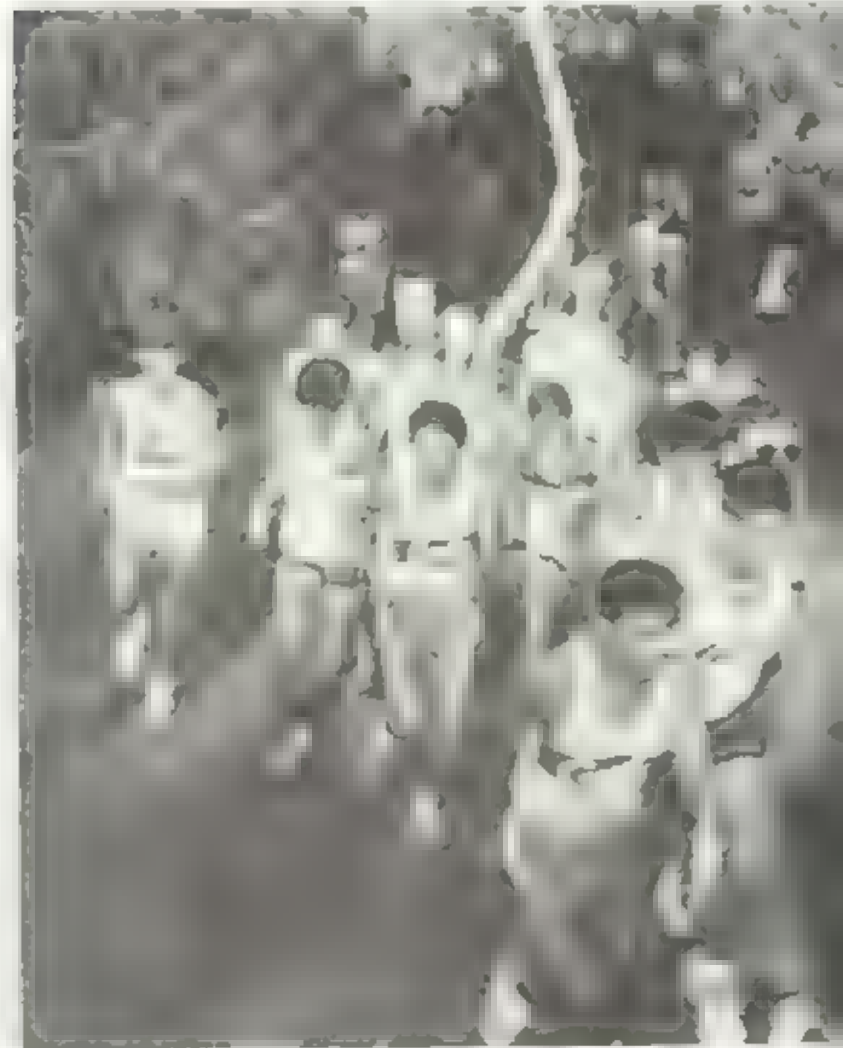

The Orange County Invitational was the first major invitational the runners encountered. The team captured the Orange County championship in the 4A division and took fourth place overall. The team was led by Jesus Ocana.

The last important event was the Mt. Sac. Invitational. This is the biggest invitational in the nation. Teams from California to Washington D.C. participated. The Coyote runners were able to place in the top 10 out of 200 schools.

As the year ended, CIF approached the corner. All the hard work during the summer and all the sacrifices were about to pay off. The Coyotes ran well, placing fifth and just missing state finals.

This was a special year for the Cross Country team because of the retirement of Coach Hirsch. He coached cross country 16 years at Buena Park, bringing the team from the bottom to the top. His athletes won the Freeway League 10 out of the last 12 years. "From all of us in the Cross Country team, we want to thank Coach Hirsch for coaching us and giving us the knowledge of what it feels like to be in a championship program. Thanks Coach, and to next year's team, seniors Gabe and I wish you the best of luck," said senior Martty Baratti.

Running to the Top

The JV accomplished what they have repeatedly done in the past few years. They won the Freeway League.

The Frosh-Soph team accomplished their goal which was to place in the top three in league.

Both teams started out their season by training fifteen to twenty miles during the months of July and August. The last ten days, both teams along with the varsity, left to Mammoth Lakes, California to train in high altitude.

The JV team had a perfect season with 5 wins and 0 losses. Most valuable honors went to Jesse Solano. Other team members include: Jaime Huerta, Craig McKone, Robert Milkivits, James Wang, Osvaldo Huerta, Jose Ramos and Shawn Comacho. Team member Jesse Solano was named the Freeway League champion.

Frosh-Soph team most valuable honors went to freshman Ralph Castaneda. Other team members include: Robert Hernandez, Andy Garcia, and Jerry Gomez.

There is no doubt that the team will bring more league championships in the years to come.

Girls Finish Fast

Girls' Cross Country season was "... the best season we've ever had. These are the most girls we've had out for the team," commented Coach Dan Hirsch. For a good start to the season, Alex Sosa, varsity team captain, and Hirsch led the way to victory against Troy and Fullerton high schools

Some of the goals they wanted to accomplish were to "have a winning record. Our other goal is to go to C.I.F.," Hirsch said. Though they were not able to make it to C.I.F., they did achieve more wins than losses. They also placed third in league.

To reach those goals, the girls in cross country had to spend about 1 3/4 hours per day in training. Furthermore, to become successful, the cross country runner had to possess certain qualities. Hirsch said a runner must "train hard, mentally want to do it, and you have to develop a mental toughness and a high pain threshold." When asked what made coaching girls' cross country rewarding, Hirsch replied, "seeing kids improve and become winners for life."

Top Talent in Tennis

Accumulating a pre-season record of 4-0, the Girls' Tennis team proved that this season they were more ready than ever. The power behind this force was the total commitment from each team member. "This team is stronger than last year's because we had many returning players who continued to improve with each match and the players had the willingness to learn," commented Suzanne Elliott.

Her statement was accurate when in the first half of the season, the team lost to long-time archrivals Sunny Hills. The score was 6-12, but in the second half the girls fought back losing with a very close score of 7-11. One of the great highlights of this season was also when the doubles team of Juhee Choi and Heather Hassinger defeated Brea with the score of 6-1, 6-1, 6-1.

The tennis team shows great unity by playing with no individual all-star. One can also see the closeness of the team when spotting the coach and several members together at football games or just hanging out having pizza. With the well-established talents on the J.V. team, the girls are looking forward to many fun and exciting matches next year.

Volleyball Makes A Valiant Effort

"In a lot of ways I learned more from the girls than they did from me because of the quality people they are," explained new girls' varsity volleyball coach Debbie Allinson. The girls started training in the summer with Coach Myatt. Allinson took over in September when Myatts' own schedule conflicted with the team's practices.

The girls had a tough season this year. With only three seniors and two returning varsity players, the team fell short of their expectations. Due in part to the disruption in coaching and lack of experience, the girls weren't able to come up with a win but hung on through some tight matches.

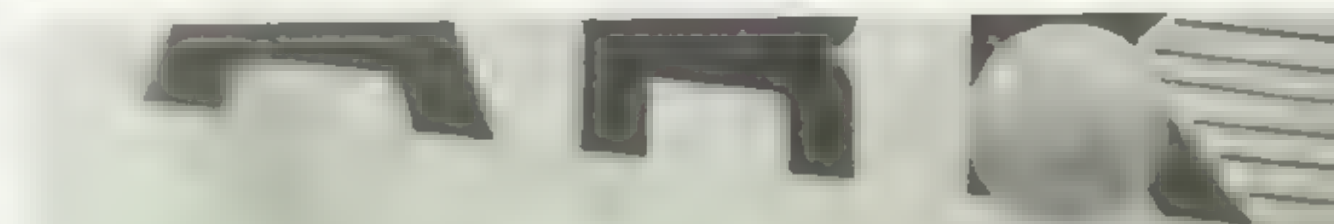

Regardless of the fact that their wins were few and far between, the team put a lot of effort and dedication into the season. The team practiced every day after school for two hours and had two games a week. Unity was an important factor that held the girls together. Coach Allinson said, "Girls volleyball is improving and I would like to see it develop a good reputation and be very competitive."

Led by team captains Mary Kate Bernhard and Melissa Lux, the team was composed of three seniors, five juniors, three sophomores, and two freshmen.

With good potential from the junior varsity team and many returning varsity players, next year's team can only expect to come out victorious.

Volleyball Dominates Courts

Achieving another prosperous year was the JV Volleyball team. With many willing, talented freshmen and experienced upperclassmen, the team played well and aimed for the top. With their new coach Brice Hunt the girls worked hard for a successful season.

Following the leadership of captains Elizabeth Hecker and Kristina Rodriguez, the girls held practices every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. During the practices, serving, receiving, spiking and blocking drills were run. Perfecting or trying to perfect these drills were essential to how well they played their games.

To help relieve the intensity of the season the girls had secret pals. One girl secretly picked another girl to give a small token of good luck to. They gave and received gifts such as flowers, stuffed animals, or candy. Having pride and determination was what the team was made of.

Boys Aim For CIF

Coach Ken Bell calls a brief meeting

Varsity Basketball ranked fourth in the league. The team had a really strong start, but twice found themselves in a moat.

Two times during the season the team lost twice in a row. However, they never let that get them down and every third game they came up with a win.

The team consisted of starters Gary Hunter, Kevin Graddy, Mike Toscano, Dave Baylor, and Danny Ko. New members to varsity not listed as starters were Darren Breslin, Paul Matheson, Erwin Masinsin, and Rommel Javellanos.

Coach Ken Bell kept the team in order. Bell saw to it that the team had their share of practice drills and shooting. He attributed most of the teams' success to teamwork, dedication and positive attitude. This year's strong points were speed and a better offense, however, Bell stated that the team really needed to work on their rebounding.

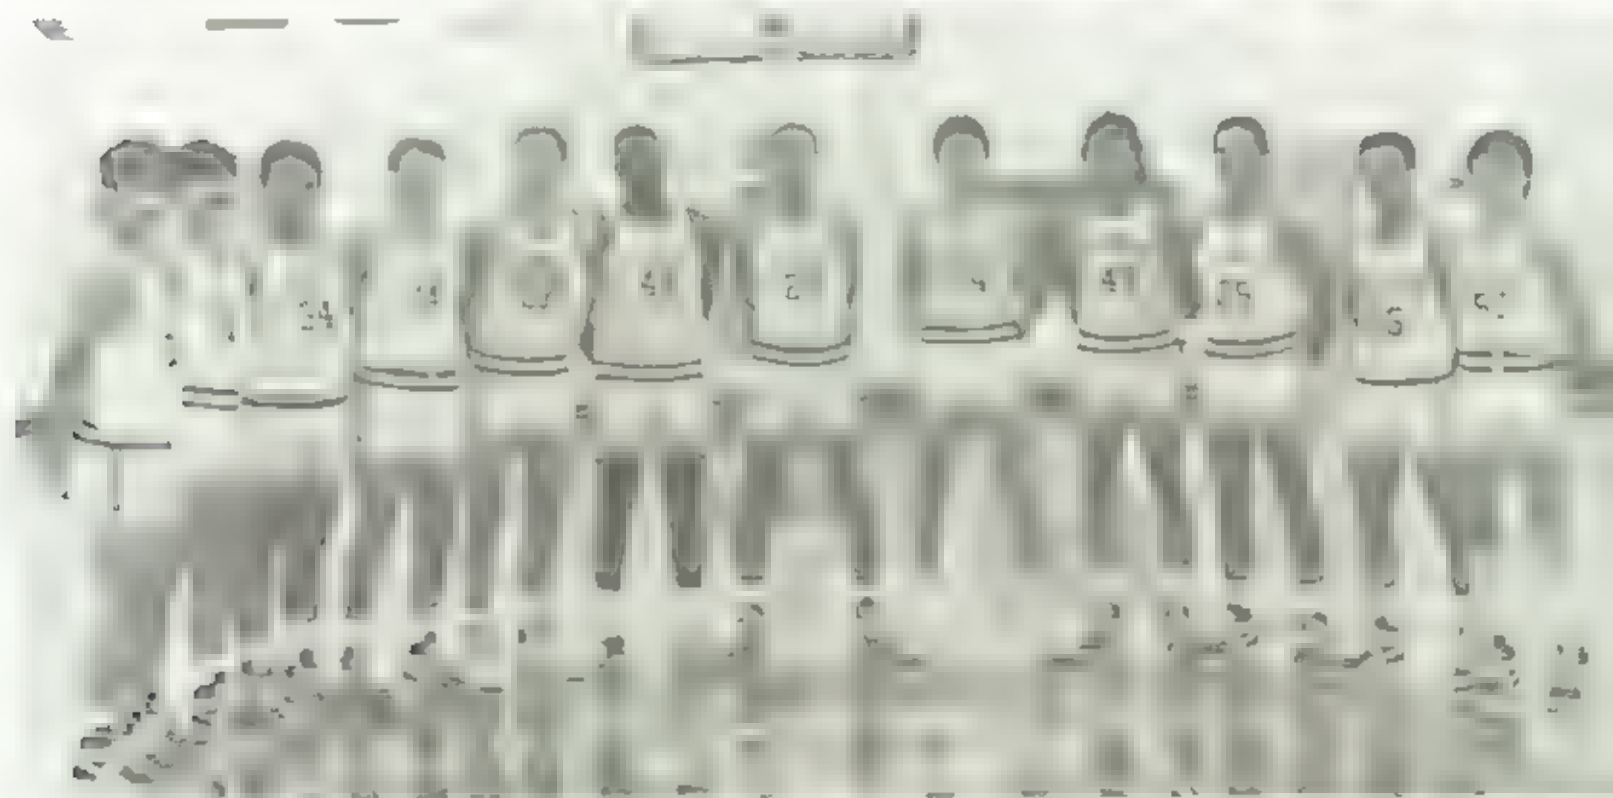

Even though the team did not make CIF and had an average of an even six wins six losses, they did have some very good moments. During the first game against Sunny Hills, Buena Park led in points up until the fourth quarter. In the end, Sunny Hills won by a total of four baskets. During the game against Troy, Mike Toscano made an excellent basket from the half court line. This happened just two seconds before the end of the quarter. It was truly an up and down season.

Teams Strive For Wins

Entering another hopeful season were the J/V and Frosh/Soph basketball teams. These boys were not only introduced to the new freshmen players but new coaches as well. The J/V team led by Coach Andre Smith and the Frosh/Soph team led by Coach Brice Hunt had very prosperous seasons.

The Frosh/Soph team held practices in the mornings and in the afternoons. They worked on passing, shooting, and other drills used to play in their games. "Teamwork, I think, was our best quality, but our passing wasn't that hot," explained freshman David Alvarado when asked about the team's strengths and weaknesses. He added, "I feel very good about the way we played against Sunny Hills. We came together and played our best."

The J/V team held practices after school and into the night. Despite a losing season, they were a very competitive team and held their own during their well played games.

Both teams have initiative to drive on with the help and encouragement of their coaches.

Lady Coyotes Achieve CIF

The girls varsity basketball team set high goals. Coached by Mike Johnson, the team made a valiant effort to achieve those goals. Their main goal was to be the best athletes they could be. Another attainable goal of the team was to make CIF. Coach Johnson said, "Our goals are definitely attainable goals. We have the best group of female students athletes that Buena Park High School has ever had. If the girls make it through CIF, they will get a chance to participate in the play-offs in Oakland. This would be a great honor and the team hopes to make it there."

The team consisted of four seniors, four juniors, two sophomores, and three freshmen. The Lady Coyote starters were seniors Felicia Benjamins and Debbie Bellony, juniors Ana Pinell and Sylvia Martinez, and freshman Sandy Bodnar. They had games twice a week and practice three times a week. However, Johnson saw to it that school came first. He strongly stresses that academics come first then the extracurricular activities.

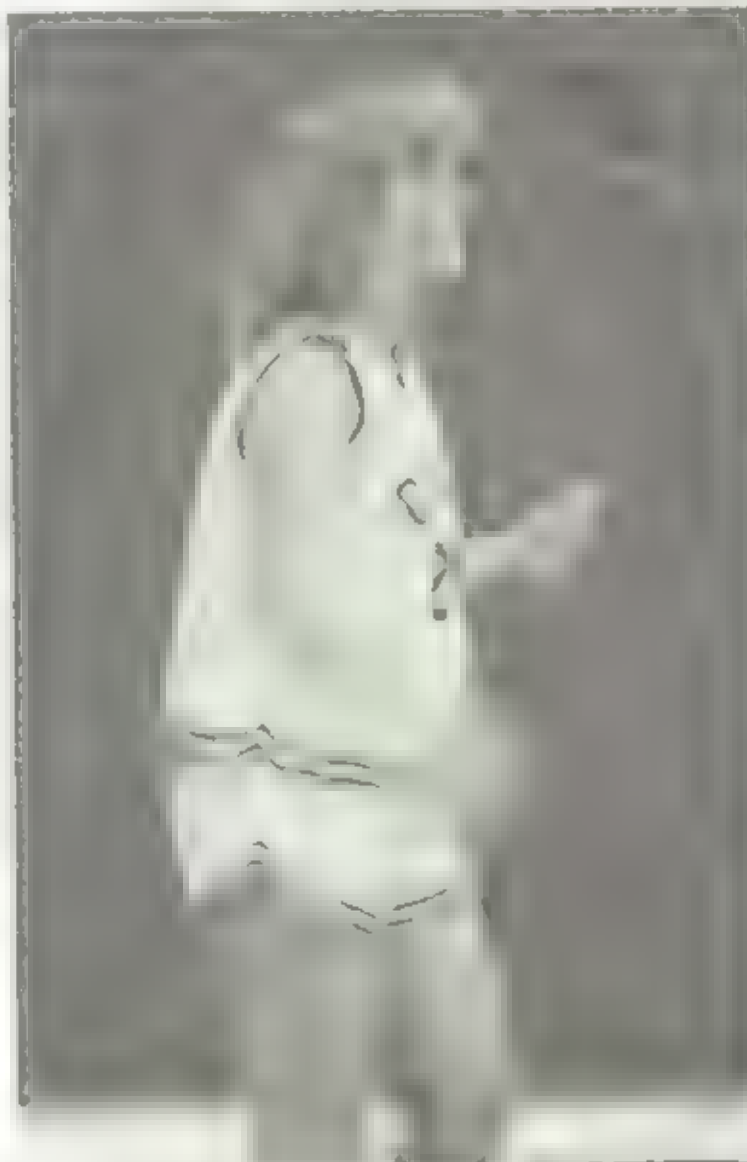

With hard work, dedication, and teamwork, success was within their grasp. Coach Johnson said, "Winning and losing is for the moment, but success lasts forever."

J.V. Trains For 1989

The girls' J.V. Basketball team got off to a great start. With the pre-season record of 4-5, the team was well-prepared to face its tough league opponents.

The team was welcomed by new coach Mike Brody. He viewed the team's strength as their aggressive defense also known as "Airborn." "Airborn is a press that is used when the other team is in-bounding the ball." "These sequences of trap defense work very effectively for the team because it causes many turnovers," explained coach Brody.

The high percentage of free throws also helped the girls outscore their opponents. The team spent two hours everyday practicing and improving their skills. The team worked on developing the basic skills such as left and right hand lay-ups, fast offensive breaks, jump shots and, of course, free throws. These skills helped to prepare them for Varsity level. "Junior Varsity is willing to learn, gives great effort and is never going to give up," commented Mike Johnson, head coach.

With their enthusiastic attitude and determination to be the best, the '87-88 girls' Junior Varsity team is looking forward to many more exciting seasons.

Wrestlers Establish Winning Tradition

For the second year in a row, the Varsity Wrestling team captured the Freeway League title with a record of 5-0. "The second best team in league was Sunny Hills and we beat them 48 18 in a dual match at our school," said senior Mike Reading. This showed just how powerful the Coyotes were over the competition. Earlier in the season, Joe Brown said he thought this year's team would compare to the teams of previous years. "Our team looks like one of the best teams that Buena Park has seen in years."

The team didn't just happen to be good by luck. All of the wrestlers worked hard every day and tried to improve their techniques, but some of the team went the extra mile to be better than the rest. Coach John Craven said, "Eighteen of the wrestlers went to Oklahoma and spent two weeks at a tough summer camp to improve on their conditioning and learn more skills. This also led to a complete change in the mental outlook of our whole squad."

The Coyotes ended the season with eight individual champions. They were Sean Brass, Eric Burke, Matt Acevedo, Mike Reading, Gary Rerer, and Joe Brown. Tom Bertrand, Brian Bertrand, and James Lape placed second. Ken Burroughs took third place. This was Mike Reading's third time as league champion. Sean Brass, Duane Duff, and Joe Brown have each been league champions twice. Even though many of the wrestlers are seniors and will be leaving, B.P.H.S. has a very fine J.V. team that will be returning next year.

New Talent, Old Tradition

Responsibility is a word that could be used to describe what the Frosh-Soph and J.V. Wrestling teams had to deal with this year. Their varsity teammates seemed to be one of the strongest teams that this school has ever had. On them rested the responsibility of continuing to uphold the winning tradition that B.P. teams in the past few years had established. However, the main goal of coach Craven was to teach the young wrestlers as much as they were able to learn and give them all the experience that was possible. His coaching took care of the first goal while the second was accomplished by sending the wrestlers to numerous tournaments.

Early in the year, the team showed their ability as well as their will to compete by winning more than half of the matches that they were involved in. This year's J.V. team seemed to show that the winning tradition would continue. Their success made them the favorites to take league this year and as the season went on, this prediction seemed to be coming true.

There is no doubt that Coach Craven, with his coaching philosophy, played a big part in making the success of the wrestling teams possible. According to him a B.P.H.S. wrestler should "compete up to his potential. He must work hard and never give up; must be a gentleman in victory or defeat as well as work and act like a champion if he ever expects to become one."

For the soccer team, the season was filled with disappointments. Before season play began, the head coach, Behst Gonzales, had to leave because he was unaware of a certain league rule which doesn't allow a coach to take the team off the field. Gonzales, without realizing the existence of such rule, broke it and was suspended for the entire season. The program was about to be cancelled when coach Rick Foley took over. The transition wasn't without its problems as was seen in their first game. Since they had practiced together for only two weeks, players seemed neither physically nor mentally prepared for the game. Despite its efforts, the team lost their pre-season opener to Artesia.

Although the Coyotes had a strong performance against Troy which was considered to be the best team in the league, they did not seem to be playing at their full potential. At this time various team members explained that the team lacked the intensity needed to perform competitively. Their next game came against La Habra, another very strong team. The Coyotes were outplayed in the first half but came back and dominated the entire second half. They ended up losing by the close margin of 5-4, time ran out on their closing rally.

Some of the highlights this year included the performances of junior Frankie Shay and senior Rick Tietel. Shay scored a team high of seven goals while Tietel averaged 15 saves a game.

The inconsistency with which the team played diminished their chances of doing well. With this in mind, the team focused on starting a sort of reconstruction. Although losing four of the better players to graduation, (Lonnie Legg, Rick Tietel, Andy Vargas, and Benyam Zewdie) seven of the starting players will be back for next year. The entire team is looking forward to next season, and is expecting a strong performance.

Girls' Soccer Displays Pride

The soccer team was not noted for having the highest success rate, but what they were noted for was their willingness to try their best and give each game their all.

Practices were held every day after school for 2 ½ hours. They practiced passing, shooting, and dribbling drills that were very important for a successful game. They also scrimmaged to create a game-like situation to better play their positions.

Although the team did not win a game, they were very optimistic about the future. Expanding their talents for the next season is an important factor. With the help of Coach Ruth Ann Morris, the new girls have learned skills they never had before, and the returning players used their experience to play well in games.

The team will be losing five of their senior players, Bonnie Bolin, Andy Burrow, Renee Hala-han, Laura Robles, and Traci Wheeler. These girls will be greatly missed but the remaining girls hope to defeat this year's undefeatable.

Coyotes Go for a Run

The track team under went a few changes.

For one thing Coach Rhonda Oswald handled head coaching duties, unlike last season when the responsibility fell to Coach Rick Foley. Also, this year the team was divided into four basic sub-teams which included the distance, the sprints, the field, and jumpers.

The distance team coached by Hernan Sanchez, handled the one mile and two mile races and the 880 races. Sanchez made several changes in the training which led to victory. Some of the changes included different types of speed work-outs, no morning runs and more distance running in the afternoon.

The sprinters were coached by Rick Foley. The events included 110, 220, and 440 yard dashes. Coach Rhonda Oswald took care of the girls distance and the jumping events which included the long jump and high jump.

Mark Sundelius coached the hurdlers, and coach Mitch Stutz took care of the shot-put and discus throwers.

One of the benefits of this was that the athletes got more individualized training, rather than one basic general workout.

The Coyotes started out on the right foot. They won their first meet against Western. The Coyotes then encountered a minor downfall against Magnolia, but they got back on their feet to win the dual meet against Troy. The team even had a dual meet with a team from Hawaii in which Buena Park won.

Goals Achieved By Team Unity

As the Frosh-Soph Track team began its season, they began to focus on their goals for the year. These goals were to gain experience, and to get personal victories under their belts in order to have confidence in their ability.

Time took care of their first goal, while the second was achieved through the athletes' hard work and determination. Although their determination was tested during their tough speed workouts, the team continued to work hard and progress was achieved.

The team started their pre-season on a positive note by defeating Western. Coach Oswald explained that despite not having the freshman turnout that they had hoped for, they seemed to have a strong team on their hands, and that she was positive about the upcoming season.

A great asset that the team had was its unity. This is very difficult to achieve because of the individuality of track and field, explained coach Oswald. The team showed how united it really was during their competitions. Team members supported each other before, during, and after each of their events.

The girls' Track team began training even before the track season officially started. Track season started February 22 and lasted through May 6. Mrs. Rhonda Oswald, coach, said "My job as coach is basically to keep everything organized and to motivate them." According to Oswald the most challenging thing in girls' track "is dealing with the pressure of competition because we're making our bodies do things that they really don't want to do, and it takes guts and courage to give it all you've got."

The girls' ran in relays on Saturdays and competed in meets on Thursdays. "Our toughest competition is league," said coach Oswald.

"I like working with the kids that are really willing to work hard and give it all they've got, as well as the memories we make," said Oswald.

Over the course of the season many of the girls proved to be hard workers and, in general, the girls' track team members did give it all they had. Even though the team consisted of fewer girls than last year's team, they did their best to measure up to the successes of the team of '87.

Badminton Team In Full Swing

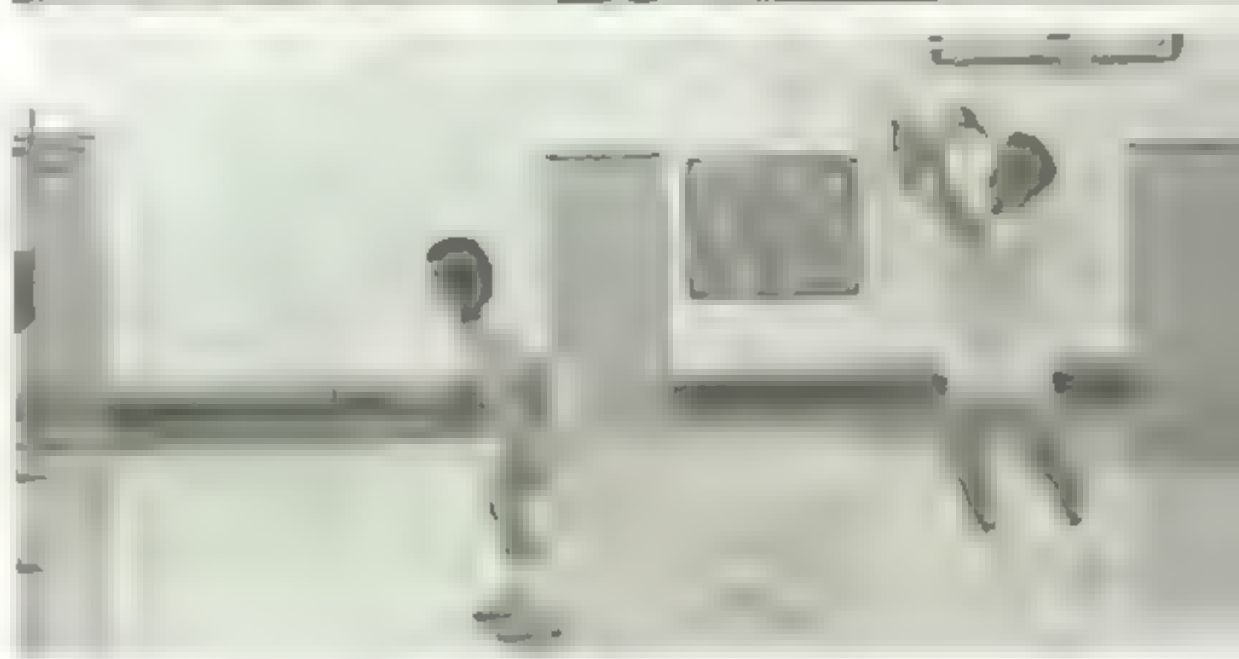

"Just win baby," said Al Davis, owner of the Oakland Raiders, to his team one year. During the past decade here at BPHS, one team has taken this famous saying to the extreme. We know them as the badminton team.

The badminton team has seized first place in the Freeway League since 1985. Their accomplishments also include being in the 3A CIF finals for six out of the last seven years and qualifying many people for all league honors. One can sense much of this tradition by merely visiting the Coyote gym where their banners hang. Coach Casey heads the team and is assisted by Tony Vachirakornong, an alumni of three years. According to Casey, it takes hard work, quickness, sharp reaction time, and the realization that strength and power take a back seat to physical and mental acuity.

Even though they appear to have large servings of each of these categories, this still does not explain why badminton players have consistently and successfully managed to win. Coach Casey was able to shed some light on this question. She said that the secret to their good fortune was that she is an experienced player who actually teaches, instead of just reading from a book. As a result of her coaching, the team opened the season with strong victories over Costa Mesa (17-2), and Garden Grove (12-7). Then, they went on to win their next six matches. With numerous victories in the past and a promising future the team is looking forward to the rest of the season and CIF Competition. Al Davis would have been proud.

Players Crash Through League

Cooperative and tough! These two words may best describe the Junior Varsity Badminton team. Badminton had a reputation of always having a winning season, and the JV team was no exception.

The team consisted of many beginning players who helped each other on their weaker shots and shared strategies to improve their skills. "I love the JV team I'm involved in. We are cooperative and like to help each other out. My teammates are very competitive but friendly," said Sandy Chun. With improved weak shots and more strategies to win the game, this team looked toward another winning season.

During the JV tournament held at Troy High School in March, the JV team accumulated many wins. Nineteen team members joined this tournament and brought back twelve medals.

With the success of the JV badminton team, BPHS can indeed be proud to have a team that is cooperative and tough.

New And Old Fish Unite

The site was the pool deck and the time was spring. However, the Varsity Swim team found that this was not going to be an ordinary year. Why? The team had many adjustments for the 1988 season. The first was that their schedule had fewer meets so they would have more time to practice. The second change was the new false start rule which disqualified the swimmer for jumping the gun, whereas in years past, they were allowed one false start. Thirdly, and more importantly, they had a new coach, one that some of the older swimmers remember as a teammate, Rick Fierro.

Fierro, an alumni of three years, took over the job where former coach, Tim Spriggs left off. The team practiced from 6 a.m. to 7:30 a.m. After their classes, the swimmers re-entered the water sixth period, training hard for their next meet. Practices consisted of the fundamental techniques of the four main swimming strokes (freestyle, butterfly, backstroke, and breaststroke), long and short distance training, and working on some of the finer points such as starts, turns and mental strategies.

When the time came for their swim meets, their hard work paid off. With early victories over Garden Grove (78-74), Magnolia (89-66), and their first league meet, Troy (106-46), they began to produce swimmers with truly optimistic futures, including junior David Otani, sophomore David Kang, freshman Erik Davidson, and freshman "rookie-sensation" Jeff Williams (.59 seconds for his hundred freestyle as of mid season).

Not only did the team receive good backing from its younger members, but the the senior swimmers pulled through when it counted. They were Rafael Alarcon, Shawn Burke, Jeff Cummins, Craig Garcia, Edward Kim, Steve Rhee, and Joe Standeford. This year once again saw the inception of coach Ted Clark's "senior plan": a plan used to accommodate graduating seniors. It allowed them to swim for one hour a day, as opposed to the traditional three to four hour norm. Yet, despite this, many of the seniors provided a unique type of leadership for the team, not only through constant pushing of the less experienced swimmers to swim that extra lap but to defy the pain coming with practice. Coach Fierro said, "The team looks good. Since we have brought some of the stronger freshmen and sophomores up to varsity, it has not only helped the team, but it has made them better swimmers." On a more sobering note, perhaps coach Fierro will have the responsibility of bearing the torch of the team in years to come, for Ted Clark, coach more than ten years, will not be returning next year. On this Fierro commented, "Ted's leaving has had some kind of emotional impact on the rest of us. I hate to see him go. I look to him for guidance and I hope he comes back."

This season brought out the best in the swim team. Some of the less experienced swimmers, rich in fight and the will to win, looked to the seniors, Fierro, and Clark for guidance, so when the time came, when it really all counted, they choose to stand and deliver.

Boys Increase Speed for Competition

With the goal in sight, Calvin May approaches the finish.

The boys' Junior Varsity Swim team swam 480 laps per day during swim season. Sound like a tremendous amount of work? It was, but with qualities such as dedication, reliability and a willingness to work hard, the boys made a lot of progress towards their goal. "The goal for the guys was to get faster," said their coach Mr. Ted Clark.

All of the training was in preparation for dual meets, invitationals and relay competitions, explained Clark.

One of the toughest competitions was the 200 Individual Meet League. The quality that made this competition especially challenging was that it required a lot of expertise in all four strokes. It was also a long event involving eight total laps. The strokes that were to be mastered for this competition and others included the freestyle, breaststroke, butterfly and backstroke.

Besides winning at competitions, one of the rewards that most of the swimmers had to look forward to was the Hawaii trip at the end of the year. In Hawaii, many of them competed in a water polo tournament as well as enjoyed the blue lagoon beaches of Hawaii's coast.

Girls Glide For Excellence

The girls' Swim team went on to an outstanding year. With the new coach, April Bach, the girls were led through a triumphant season.

The girls came at 6 a.m. as well as after school to work in the pool. Swimming up to 2500 yards a day was very tiring but these girls paid the price to make it to the top.

A few new girls have made up for the seniors who graduated last year. These girls were a good addition to the team. They put in their hours and got the best of what was coming to them. The returning swimmers strived to become better and improved in what they needed to improve in.

Although swimming is not necessarily a united team sport, these girls pulled together throughout all of their swimmeets. They encouraged and motivated each other to push ahead and work for the best in life.

Winning and being the best may have been important to many teams but teamwork and inspiration is what the team was made of.

Fish Fly For Points

Will Buena Park succeed in diving again this year? That was the question everyone was asking. Last year senior Robert Moen introduced a lot of hopefuls to diving. Moen went to CIF last year and came back to coach the diving team this year.

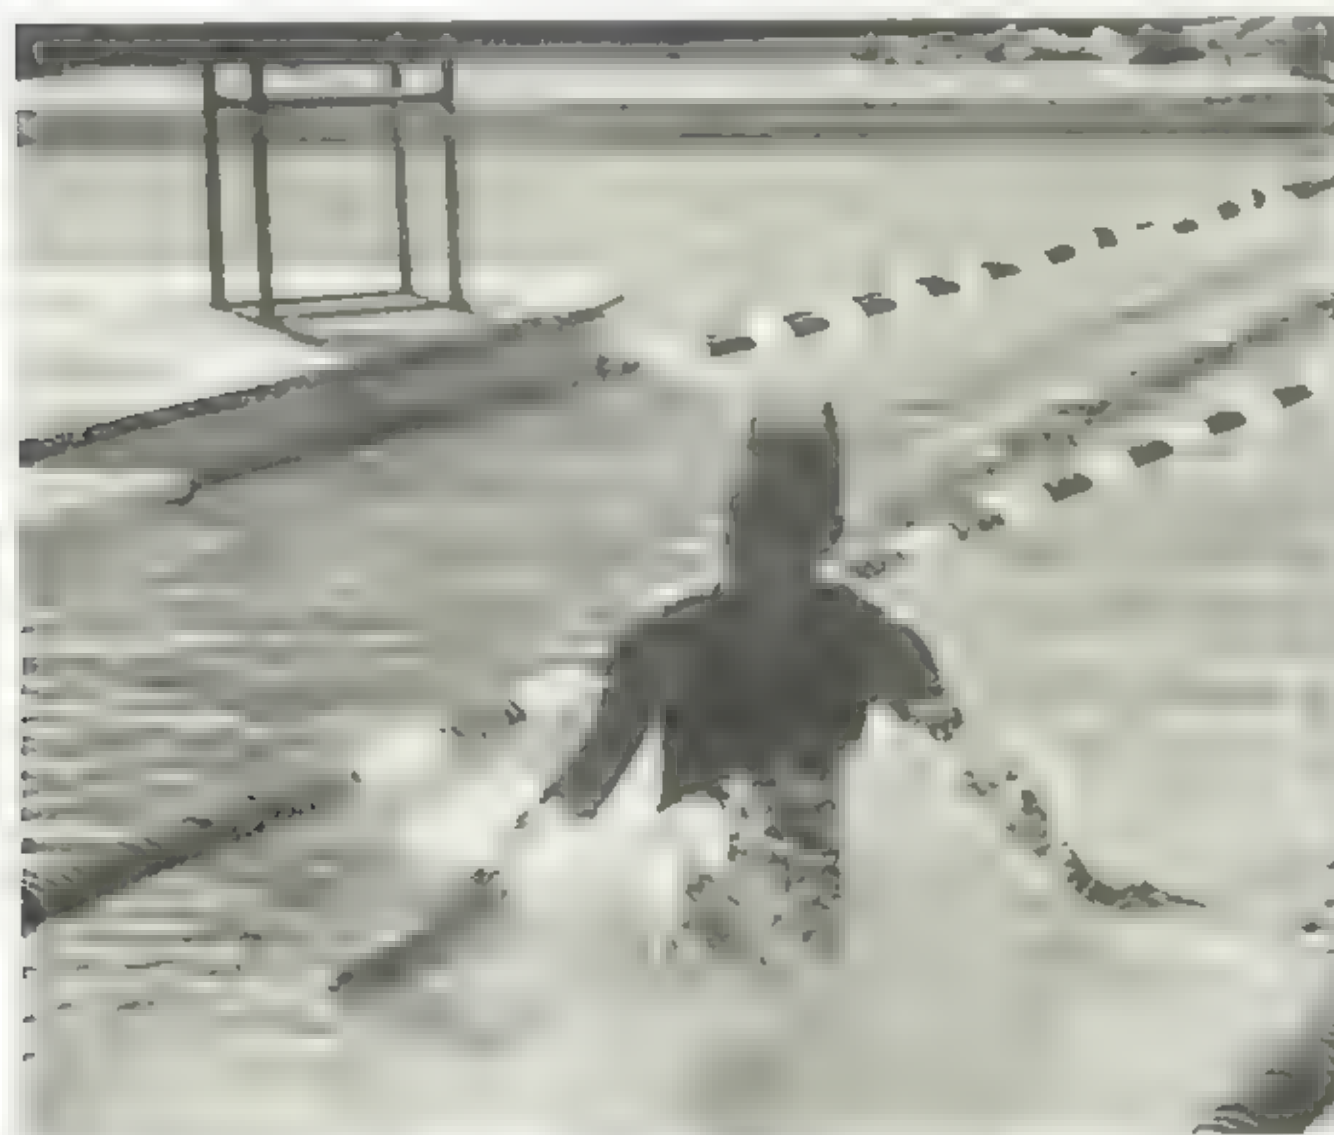

This year's team consisted of more than just two divers. BP had three male divers and one female diver. All of the divers had unique talents.

Diving may look simple to some and to others it may look like it takes a lot of guts to do the flips and twists like these divers do. Moen said diving really is easy if you have the determination to learn the complicated moves necessary to get the points needed in the meets. A diver must practice constantly and try to perfect every move that your body will be making.

Practices were held in the pool but the divers also had their own practices at the Cerritos pool. After practicing until 2:30 or 3 p.m. at the school, Coach Moen and his team went to Cerritos to work out an additional two hours on Mondays, Wednesdays, or Saturdays. These practices were usually held in the evenings.

Perfection and consistency is the name of the game for the diving team.

Baseball Catches A Better Year

Bob Diver, a new coach, helped the Varsity Baseball team strive for perfection.

They started off with a positive attitude and worked to improve their techniques from last year. To achieve success, the team practiced every weekday from 2 to 5 p.m. with an occasional Saturday practice.

During this time they worked on infielding, outfielding, hitting such as bunting drills and running. Before Coach Diver came to Buena Park High School he coached the Anaheim American Legion for 25 years. This legion consisted of top high school players. Dan Hardin, the pitcher, said when Diver arrived it was hard for the team to adapt to his style of coaching, but Diver has definitely helped out a lot and brought unity to the team.

Varsity Baseball's strong points were hitting, defense and the seniors leading the team, according to Hardin. He explained that their hopes were pinned on making CIF. In order to accomplish this, they had to be dedicated, willing, positive and supportive of others on the team.

This season seemed to be a trial period for the team. With all of their training the team hopes to be better prepared for next season.

Hope For The Future

In order to be future Coyote Varsity Baseball players, the J.V. team set to work on molding themselves into a unified, cohesive, fortress of intensity.

According to coach John Duir, the team consisted of a majority of sophomores who had to compete against other teams fielding juniors. However, coach John Duir did have a plan. He emphasized work on the fundamentals such as fielding, hitting, and throwing.

Duir, a new coach here at BPHS, stressed that the team's primary goal was not only to get a better understanding of the game and to win, but that the players reach their full potential by doing the best they can. Some of the more talented players on the team were underclassmen David Witmerhousen, Mike Gonzales, and Diamond Robles.

When coach Duir was asked for a comment on the team he replied, "We're here to have a good time. I believe that there is something special about baseball. It's part of spring and in that sense, it has a magical quality."

These hopefuls will soon be the inspiration of the varsity team. With underclassmen talent and a coach believing in the true spirit of the game, one could say that this, indeed, was a good place to start.

Varsity Softball Strives For CIF

The Coyotes really looked forward to making it to CIF. The team had nine returning players which helped them get a jump on the league. While experience seemed a definite plus for the season, the team still realized and tried to improve on weaknesses.

On the subject of improvements, Nancy Miranda explained that the team's offense needed to be improved. Senior, captain Julie Schoales, stated that team improvements included better funding and attitudes. Last year, Schoales was fortunate to go to a special softball try-out to participate in the Pan-American games. This game is not held every year, however, so the 1987-88 Lady Coyotes won't be able to participate.

As captain, Schoales' main duties are to show leadership, spirit, and quite a bit of dedication. Schoales has been playing softball for many years and feels this experience has helped her to become the team captain.

During the girls' first pre-season game, they faced Ocean View. The game lasted for 16 innings yet the Coyotes came up with a loss. The girls' stated that they had really good defense, and the Ocean View needed to work on their fielding. Overall, they rated the game as a good one considering it was their first game.

Both Miranda and Schoales gave lots of credit to the team coach Debbie Allinson. They stated that she is a really good and dedicated coach that has had experience playing for UCLA.

J.V. Girls Show Future Potential

"Young" can best describe the girls' J.V. Softball team. With nine freshmen and four sophomores, the girls practiced and played hard to become contenders for the Freeway League title.

Third year softball coach Lea Snell commented, "The girls have to play as a team and have fun to have a good season. This was coach Snell's first season with the Buena Park girls softball program. She has been coaching at Sunny Hills High School for the past two years.

Strong hitting and fielding were a key to their success. Freshmen Kari Escobedo supplied the team with strong hitting. She smashed two homeruns in the season opener against Ocean View High School. Top fielders this season were sophomore Julie Cagle playing left field and Tammy Bertrand playing center field.

Starting the season with a win and having a positive attitude, the young team seemed to be a strong contender for the Freeway League title

Kings Of The Court Face Difficult Duels

The boys' Tennis team found themselves setting really high goals, the major one being to do well in league.

Improvements for the team were the attitudes of the players. Coach Ken Bell looked for three qualities when he chose his players. He looked for hard workers, people who listened to directions, and showed up for games and practices. However, because many of the players that tried out for the team were new, Bell still took extra time to show them some basic points.

Bell saw to it that the tennis players stayed busy both in and out of season. Bell stated that for a team to succeed they must improve both individually and as a team. He kept them busy doing drills, doubles practice, and he also worked with selected groups of people teaching them skills that he thought were essential and would help benefit the team.

'Twas a victorious time for the Coyotes. The varsity athletes participated in a "gala" of athletic festivities and the elite were able to engage in the post-season sporting event — the CIF competition.

Many teams went to CIF this year. Among them were the boys' water polo team, the boys' cross country team, the girls' basketball team, and the wrestling team.

The water polo team entered the CIF competition as the second seed from the Freeway League. Although they lost a tough 4-3 decision to Villa Park, they managed to qualify one player, Craig Garcia to the All CIF team.

The cross country team took league for the tenth time in 12 years. They also managed to place fifth in 3A CIF, the toughest cross country division there is. They were lead by seniors Marty Baratti and Gabriel Sanchez.

The girls' basketball team entered CIF competition ranked third in the Freeway League under the superb coaching of Michael Johnson. They lost a tough game to Kennedy in the first round of competition 56-63. But three players were selected to the All-Freeway League team. Felicia Benjamins, Debbie Bellony and Sylvia "Slick" Martinez.

The wrestling team, captained by Sean Brass, Joe Brown, Duane Duff, and Mike Reading, not only took league and qualified 9 out of 11 varsity wrestlers for CIF competition, but won the 2A CIF title. They also qualified one wrestler, Javier Frausto, for state competition. Frausto took the CIF title and then went on to take 4th in the state of California.

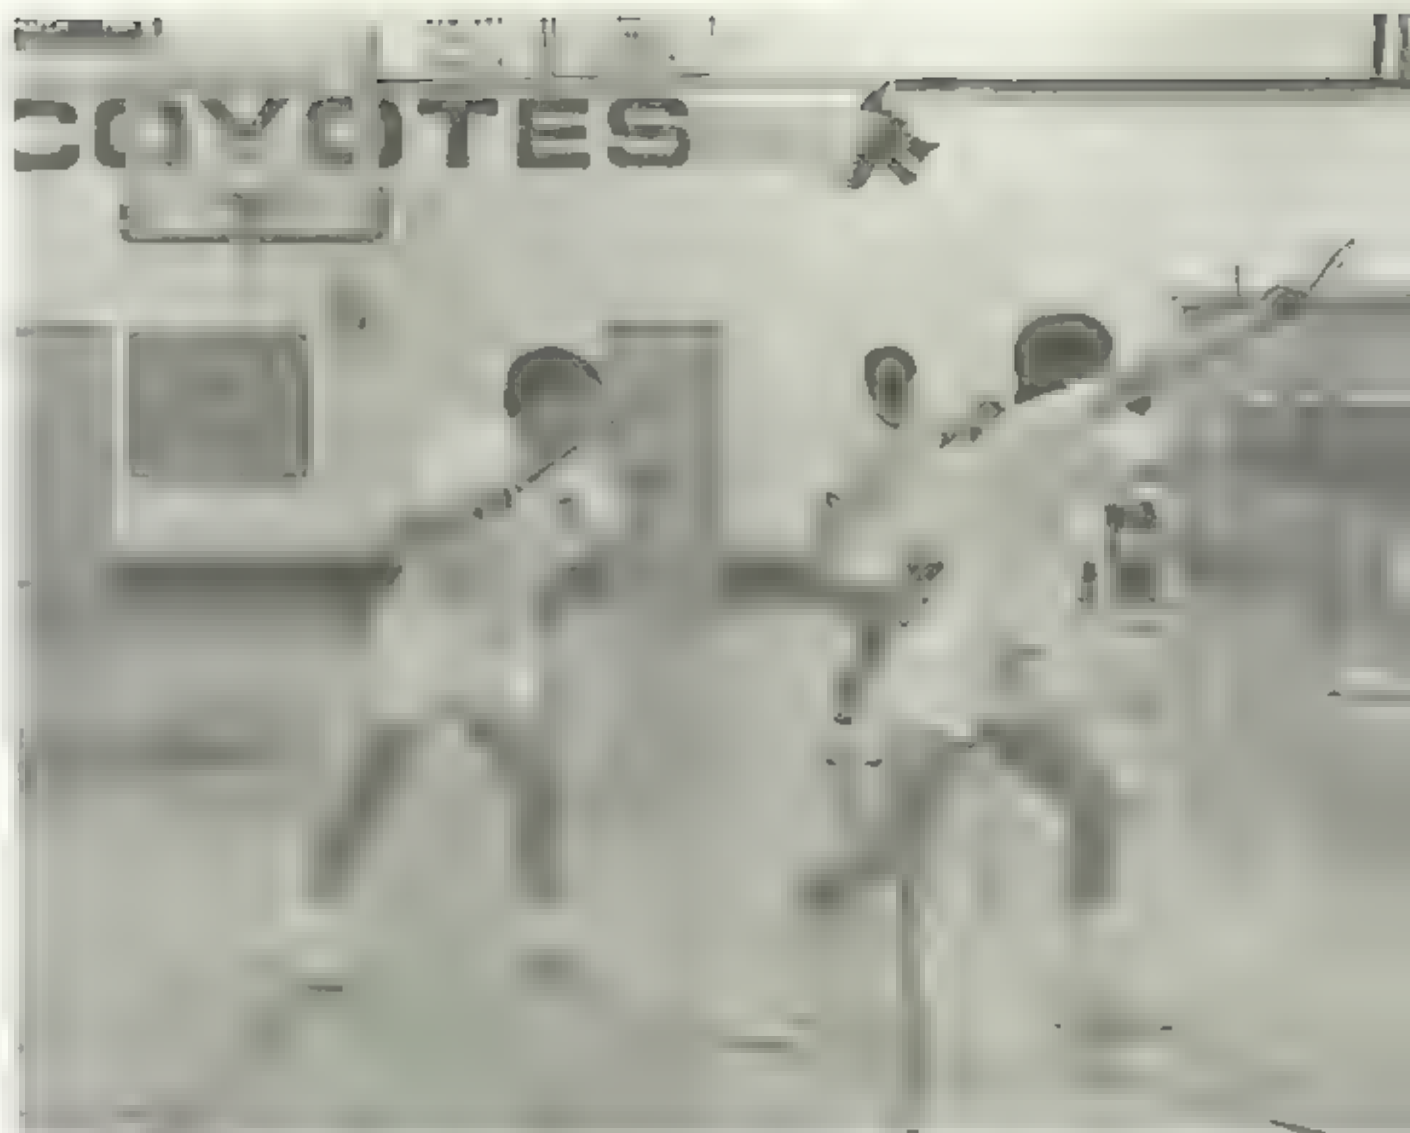

Among the teams expected to qualify for further CIF competition were the badminton team and the girls' varsity softball team.

DEAR
AMIE

Although you weren't born to us, we couldn't love you more if you were our own daughter. We have had the pleasure of watching you grow from a cute, outgoing little girl into a beautiful intelligent young lady who has set high goals, and we know because of your determination and dedication, you will achieve them. Being with you in the "YMCA" Indian Princess and participation in your school activities all these years, along with having your many friends in our home has helped to keep us thinking young

We love you very much, are so very proud of you and wish you success in all you strive for

Grandpa AND Grandma

TO OUR JODI GIRL
WE ARE BOTH SO VERY PROUD OF
YOU AND WE WISH YOU THE VERY

Leslie,
 Since you were born you have been such a beautiful addition to our family.
 Now that you are growing up,
 We can see that you are a beautiful addition to the world, and we are so proud of you!
 Love,

 Class of '88

You will always be our special little girl. We know you can accomplish anything you put your mind to it. With your personality and ambition you will be the best at whatever you decide to be. Life isn't always easy but we know you have the inner strength to see beyond today's problems to tomorrow's possibilities. May all your dreams become a reality.
 We are so proud of you.
 Our love and support are with you always.
 Love,

ENJOY THE KNIGHT LIFE

J back to the chivalry and glory of the Middle Ages. Come, enjoy the knight life at Medieval Times.

Feast on a four-course meal complete with beverages in our 11th century European-style castle while viewing a colorful display of equestrian drills and dressage.

Cheer your own brave knight on horseback to victory as he competes at breakneck speeds in medieval tournament games of ring piercing, flag tossing, javelin throwing and jousting.

Then witness the drama and excitement of daring sword fights that leave only one knight victorious. It might be yours.

Dinner and performances nightly with Sunday matinees. Free visits to the castle offered Monday through Saturday 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Special group rates available.

Editor's Message

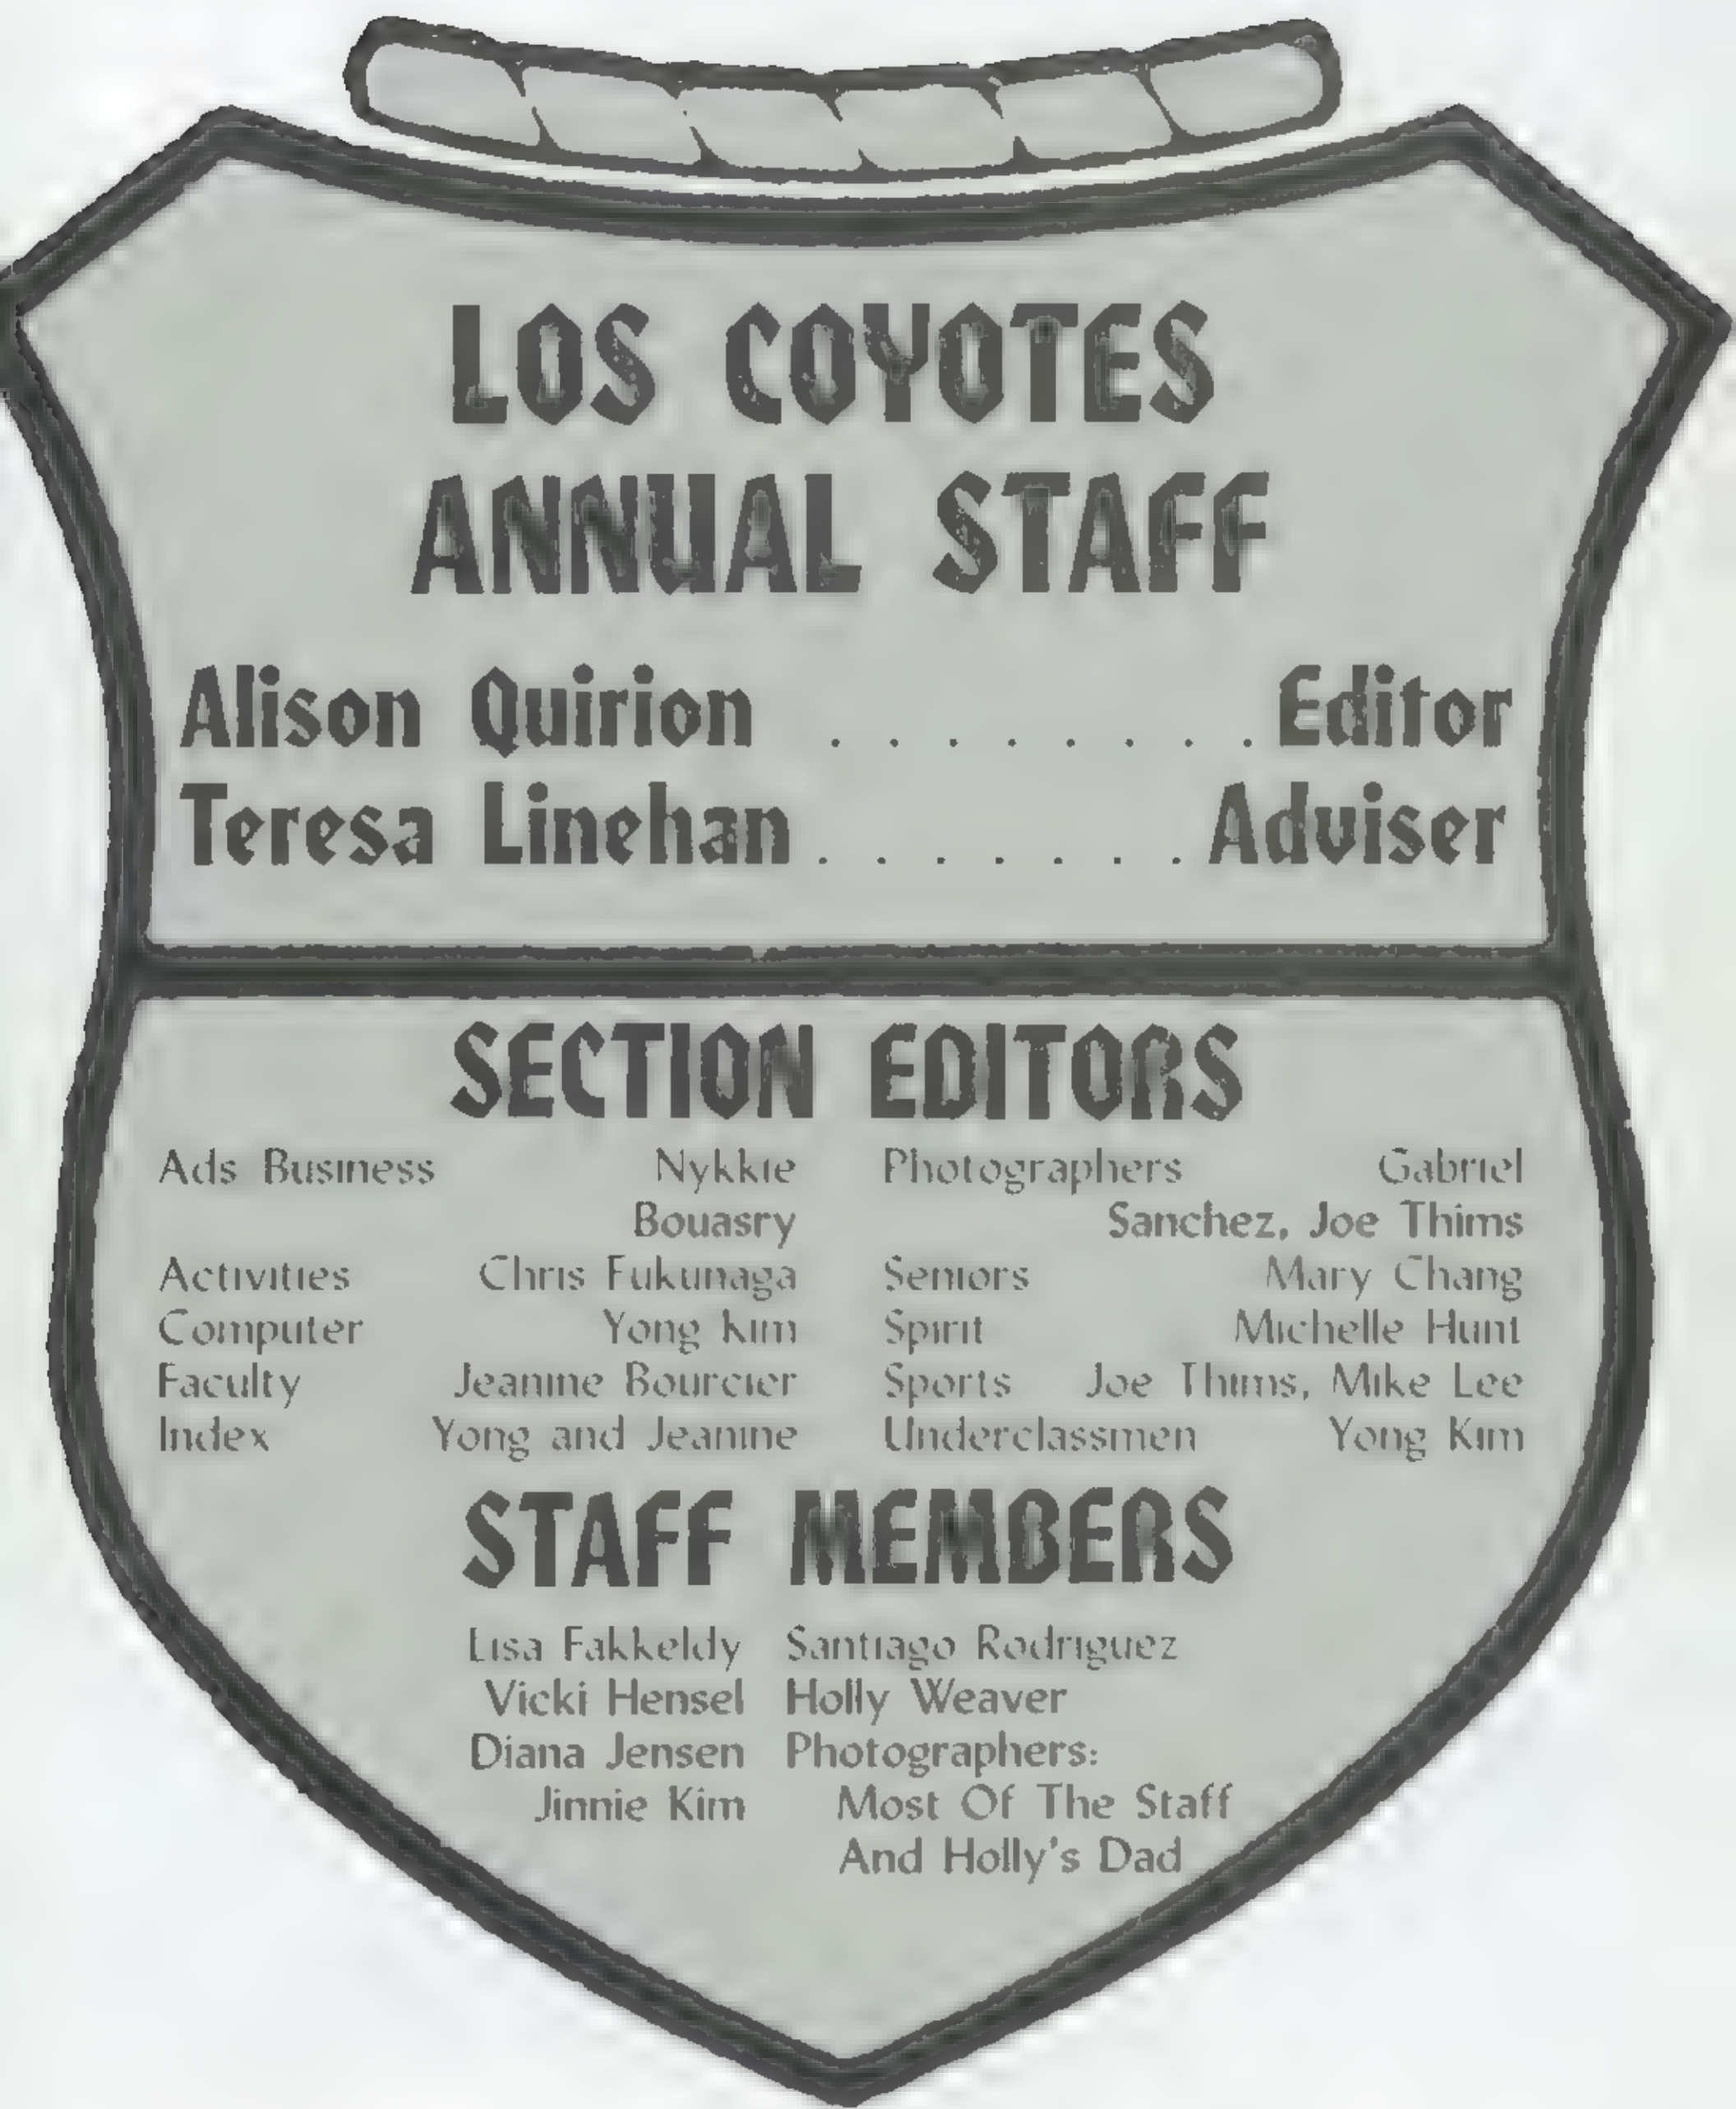

Being the final story of the thirty-first volume of Los Coyotes, I feel the need to say, "It's finally over!" At least it is for me and the rest of the senior class. No longer will I stress out because I'm trying to juggle all the work from my AP classes, ASB activities, and yearbook all at the same time. All in all, I guess it was fun while it lasted. Once again, I'd like to thank my staff for eventually getting all of their work done, even though half of the book was drawn up on the day of the deadline. Thanks Mrs. Linehan for helping me through another year of publications. The only staffers I do not wish to recognize are the ones who made fun of what I wrote last year and they know who they are. (I told you I'd mention it, C.F., M.H., and J.K.)

Well, I hope everyone at BPHS enjoys Los Coyotes '88 and I wish the best of luck to next year's staff. The burning question that remains is, "Will I do this again in college?" I'll let you decide

Jodie! Hey sexy! I'm glad I got to know you this year. You're a super sweet heart. I had a lot of fun ditching class with you +
 Jeff. I'm sorry I didn't get to know you sooner but your just too quiet.
 Have a great life. I'll fuckin' all you do. I have fun @ graduation.
 We'll have to take pictures together
 after. OK? OK! Keep in touch! 739-0481

 (AKA Bones)

Hey Jodie,
 Whats up coz?
 know you'll Build a super Bitch
 Bug, One that's A hell of a lot better than you know who's. What a Sng. Anyway
 When you get it going, Call me up and we'll cruise them into the sunset baby.
 U's forever. Don't forget to squeeze Jeff's tits for me, that a lie. Well I love you very much Jodie! Love toxxoxo
